SENATE ACCEPTS TAX COMPROMISE

HOOVES GIVES FULL FEDERAL AID PROGRAM

Would Extend Scope of Finance Body With More Help to Agriculture

FOR LOAN BANK PLAN
President Would Keep Expenditures Down to Pay-as-you-go Basis

Washington — (AP) — Democratic leaders have decided to give one of President Hoover's relief proposals—the bill to create a system of home loan discount banks—legislative right of way in the house. That assures an early vote.

The struggle between the administration and the Democrats over relief legislation—one of the prime controversies to be settled before adjournment—will burst forth in the house tomorrow over the two billion dollar measure sponsored by Speaker Garner.

By an 8-4 vote, the rules committee agreed today for the bill to be brought up under drastic procedure with debate limited to three hours. The Democrats are pledged to support it.

Meanwhile, the ways and means committee, approving the measure for the second time due to technical changes, sliced $39,050,000 from the total allocated to public buildings.

Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader, said the changes were "made because of the decreased building costs."

Washington — (AP) — Sighting the early end of congress, Speaker Hoover directed his final steps. President Hoover had stepped to the country today his complete program at this time for federal aid to employment, agriculture and business.

Beyond expansion to $3,000,000,000 the Reconstruction Corporation's capital, with its scope extended to give wide benefit to agriculture, the chief executive declared for immediate enactment of legislation creating the home loan bank system; country-wide extension of the industry and finance committee organized by the federal reserve; and strict holding of government expenditures to a pay-as-you-go basis.

This summary was given out in a statement from the White House last night. It was the result of extended weekend discussions at the Rapidan camp between the president and the directors of the reconstruction unit, which is the mainstay of his plan. No mention was made of how Mr. Hoover intended to go about getting the program through congress, this apparently being left to later conferences with political leaders. Mr. Hoover remained in the mountains until today.

In disregard of the administration plan, house leaders meantime were seeking to push Speaker Garner's $2,300,000,000 relief program, which is largely objectionable to the president. The speaker and his aides sought recommendation to the house.

DEMOCRATIC GROUP BACKS FOX CANDIDACY

Chilton — (AP) — A movement for the nomination of L. P. Fox as Democratic governor gained headway today after a rousing rally of Calumet-co Democrats here Saturday night.

Fox, delegate-at-large to the national Democratic convention, made an address in which he assailed Gov. Philip F. La Follette as "an official trying to establish a dictatorship."

He attacked the LaFollette legislative program as being largely Socialistic. Thomas Duncan, secretary to the governor, framed much of the legislation considered at the last session, he said.

Indications were that Calumet-co Democrats will propose Fox as candidate for governor at the Democratic convention in Green Bay.

DUCE ESCAPES BOMBING PLOT

Youthful Suspect Confesses He Planned to Assassinate Premier

Rome — (AP) — Premier Benito Mussolini has outlived another bomb plot against his life.

The fact became known yesterday with the announcement that police had arrested a 25-year-old Italian, armed with a pistol and two bombs, outside the premier's office in the Palazzo Venezia.

The arrest was made Saturday. The announcement said the man, Angelo Stendelotto, confessed he intended to kill the premier during the celebration Saturday in honor of General Garibaldi, Italy's liberator, and his wife, Anita. The time was chosen, the young man said, because Garibaldi was a symbol of liberty in Italy.

The police identified Stendelotto as a member of an organization called "Justice and Liberty," pledged to violent action.

"The bombs were intended for the premier and the pistol was to be used to kill himself, the prisoner told police."

He carried a forged Swiss passport and he was believed to have come here from Cannes, France. He was arrested when he attracted the attention of a detective near the Palazzo Venezia.

A thorough search was begun as a protective measure for King Victor Emmanuel, who reviewed 16,000 troops of the Rome garrison yesterday on the anniversary of the Italian constitution. Police even dug up the ground under the royal box in the reviewing stand.

The last person convicted of a plot against Mussolini's life was Michele Schirru, a naturalized American. He was executed in May, 1931.

NO WORD RECEIVED OF POLISH AIRMAN

Hausner Unreported Since His Hop-off from New York Last Friday

London — (AP) — European anxiety over the fate of Stanislaus F. Hausner, Polish-American flier, deepened today as no word of him had been heard since he took off from New York last Friday.

A dispatch from Warsaw, the Polish capital which was his goal, said the city was greatly worried. Air authorities there made frequent telephone calls to various European airfields seeking possible word of the flier.

No word of his progress from any point at sea or on land had reached England and LaFollette, field at Paris also reported no news.

The time his fuel supply was expected to last expired early yesterday morning.

New York — (AP) — The wife of Stanislaus Hausner, the priest who blessed him as he started his flight into the east, and the friends whom he confided his detailed plans were trying hard today not to give up hope for the flier's safety, though admitting the chances of his being alive were slender.

DARROW RENEWS FIGHT FOR CONDEMNED YOUTH

Chicago — (AP) — Clarence Darrow, the famous criminal lawyer, swung into action this week in his second campaign to save 17-year-old Russell McWilliams of Rockford, Ill., from death in the electric chair.

He announced last night he would go to Rockford to ask a stay of execution of the death sentence imposed on the youth for the second time by Circuit Judge Arthur Fischer after a new trial ordered by the supreme court at Darrow's instance.

ENVOY VISITS PREMIER

Tokyo — (AP) — Joseph C. Grew, who is succeeding W. Cameron Forbes as United States ambassador to Japan, called on Premier Saito today. He will present his credentials at an audience with the emperor early next week.

BADGER G. O. P. CONVENTION TO OPEN TUESDAY

Platform Committee Holds Preliminary Meeting Today at Madison

Madison — (AP) — With a preliminary meeting of the platform committee and the arrival of most of the party leaders, activities leading up to the opening of the Republican regulars' state convention tomorrow got into full swing today.

By tonight all of the 1,156 convention delegates who will nominate candidates to oppose the LaFollette slate in the national and state contests will have arrived on the scene.

The headquarters established at the Loring hotel began to buzz with activity this morning.

But there was nothing in the preliminaries to indicate any revealing sentiment on what the convention will do about nominations for the major offices, the governorship and United States senator's seat. Both have inspired a great amount of speculation.

Evidence of a movement to draft Walter J. Kohler for the race against Gov. Philip F. LaFollette persisted, despite two announcements from Mr. Kohler that he does not want his friends to enter his name for endorsement.

The convention will have to meet the issue of determining its attitude on Kohler and also on the candidacy of Charles B. Perry, speaker of the assembly. Perry is a delegate from Milwaukee. He has taken the position that the pre-convention statements of Kohler have definitely eliminated the former governor and has openly interpreted the draft movement as a planned obstacle to his own candidacy.

Plea for Harmony

Up until today there was no announcement from Kohler as to what he will do if the convention should elect him as its nominee.

"There will be a strong plea on the meeting floor and in small circles off the floor for the party to stand by the convention action, whatever it is."

This will be equally true in the matter of the senatorship, for which four names have been mentioned. John R. Chappie, Ashland editor, State Senator Walter S. Goodland of Racine, W. C. Campbell of Oshkosh and George A. Hedding of Milwaukee, former minister to Ecuador, are the candidates.

While there has been some discussion of compromising to avoid any ill feeling and to work for party unity no one responsible in party circles would hazard a guess on candidates in advance.

The platform committee expects to have a good part of its work done before the opening tomorrow.

One of the strongest planks, it is expected, will be a demand for reduced governmental expense, a subject which has been uppermost in the minds of conservative spokesmen.

At 2 p. m. the convention will be called to order by State Chairman George L. Galley of Merrill. The keynote speech will be given by Howard T. Greene of Genesee Depot, delegate to the Republican national convention and mentioned as a candidate for governor.

11TH SLAYING SINCE FEB. 1 IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City — (AP) — The eleventh unsolved murder in Greater Kansas City since Feb. 1, was on the police records today with the slaying of Edward J. McWilliams, 42, sought by Chicago officers for a Chicago beer fight shooting March 22.

His body, bearing wounds in the head and neck, was found on a lonely road west of Kansas City, Kas., yesterday morning. Officers said he apparently had been shot at the scene. The victim was well-dressed and one pocket contained $17.

McWilliams organized the Tile Setters and Terrazzo union here in 1925 and left for Chicago about a year ago when the organization was unable to pay him a salary.

The Chicago shooting for which he was sought resulted in the death of Mrs. Dorothy Renshaw of Sioux City, a 25-year-old divorcee. Witnesses said she was struck by a stray bullet when McWilliams became displeased with a radio program and fired several bullets into the loud speaker.

Counter-Revolution In Southern Chile Against New Socialistic Regime

Army and Navy Reported Backing Move—New Officials Not Alarmed

Santiago, Calif. — (AP) — A counter-revolution directed against the Socialist regime which set itself up here on Saturday has broken out in southern Chile.

It was understood that the army and navy support the movement. Reports from the south this morning said that the military and naval garrisons at Concepcion and Talcahuano had joined the counter-revolutionary forces.

General Puga, minister of the interior in the new government, said he had expected some such incident, but did not believe the counter-revolution would be very serious. If necessary, he said, he would send planes down to bombard the rebels.

Juan Esteban Montero, ousted by the Socialist junta, left town last night and today was reported to be somewhere along the coast trying to join the southern force. It also was reported that former President Ibanez, who has been living in Argentina, had crossed the border into Chile by air, landing at his ranch near Talca.

This morning university students declared a strike in protest against the junta government, but the city was quiet.

Col. Marmaduke Grove, the new minister of defense, issued a personal statement today in which he said that "our revolution will not degenerate into a military dictatorship. Such a possibility is repugnant to us."

There was a strike of bank employees also which succeeded in closing most of the foreign and domestic banking houses. The branch of the National City bank remained open with the aid of the militia but the Central Bank of Chile was closed as a precautionary measure.

NO HURRIED U. S. ACTION

Washington — (AP) — Chile's new provisional government has not made any application as yet for recognition by the United States.

It was made clear at the state department this morning that Washington will not take any hurried action in this matter, and will make sure that any new government is firmly established and without active resistance before recognition is considered.

PREDICTS PERUVIAN REVOLT

New York — (AP) — Alejandro Rojas Zemellos, New York representative of the Peruvian Apra movement, predicted today that a revolution similar to that which overthrew the government of President Montero of Chile Saturday, would occur in Peru within 60 days.

The Apra party, he said, would lead the revolt against President Sanchez Cerro and would count on aid from the rank and file of the army and navy.

BOND PRICES DROP

New York — (AP) — Establishment of a Socialist republic in Chile caused a flurry of selling of Chilean bonds on the New York stock exchange today, but price changes were not violent.

There was said the Chilean political upheaval came as no great surprise. Moreover, they pointed out, a number of Chilean obligations, both governmental and those of part-government owned corporations, had already gone into default.

The three principal Chilean government 6 per cent bonds were off from $2.50 to as much as $1.75. The Chilean 6 per cent of 1931 sold down to $55 for $1,000 denominations, a decline of $13.75 and the Chilean 6 per cent of 1932 were off $5 to $30 for a $1,000 par bond.

MAN BURNS TO DEATH IN CHICAGO STORE FIRE

Chicago — (AP) — James Mundos, 40, was trapped and burned to death and the lives of 30 other persons were imperiled early today in a confectionery store fire which Mundos apparently had set with his own hand.

Gasoline with which the store interior was soaked spread the flames so rapidly to dwellings above that only heroic rescue work of firemen and the police prevented heavy possible loss of life. Two children were rescued by police from a roof of an adjoining building. They had been driven there by the fire.

Police Sgt. Frank Malone said all signs indicated Mundos had spread the gasoline and set fire to it, and found his escape blocked when a rear door jammed. His charred body was found within. Louis Somarros, who said his brother, John, owned the store, was arrested and John was sought.

SUIT DISMISSED

Wilmington, Del. — (AP) — A suit for reversionary filed several months ago against Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., by Marjorie P. V. Newcastle was dismissed in chancery court today.

Gettelman Hits Seizure Of Property In Dry Raid

Milwaukee — (AP) — President Hoover is about to hear the circumstances of the prohibition raid on Sally's lunch. He will get the facts from Bernhard Gettelman, Milwaukee, militant wet state senator, who was embarrassed when prohibition agents found him eating at one of Sally's well provisioned tables.

Tactics like this cause people to lose confidence in government. If a murder is committed the property of the murderer is not confiscated, but when an ordinary civil misdeed is committed the government confiscates everything.

"The point I wish to make is this—the confiscation of property is unjust and uncivilized. The offense was not serious enough to warrant such measures. Wisconsin citizens are vitally concerned in this and similar situations, because the governor of Wisconsin, Philip F. LaFollette, recently stated in a speech that 'there is nothing holy about property. I believe in confiscation if necessary.' This is purely Communistic in theory."

"If the federal prohibition agents and the governor of Wisconsin believe in confiscation of property then we are confronted with a serious condition. The people of this state are entitled to security of their property."

"Mr. President, I feel the platform of the Republican party should contain a plank reassuring the people of their rights and liberties. A reaffirmation of faith along this line will do much to restore confidence in the state."

6,000 TO STRIKE

Wellington, N. Z. — (AP) — Six thousand coal miners will walk out at midnight tonight, striking against new wage agreements imposed by the operators. The men said they were still anxious to compromise. The strike will close 150 mines.

FINDS 2 "MASHERS" ARE COPS—GIRL HELD ON TRAFFIC CHARGE

Evanston, Ill. — (AP) — Policemen aren't supposed to be dressed up in golf togs and riding around in a fashionable automobile.

But that's where Miss Mildred Mudge, daughter of Solomon H. Mudge, vice president and general manager of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company, made her mistake.

"Mashers," said Miss Mudge as two young men, attired in golf clothes, drove her car alongside of hers when she passed a street car on the wrong side. "I'm going to the police station to report you."

"We'll go along," they replied. They did. And instead of letting her arrest them, they arrested her. She posted bond.

PARTY LEADERS IN AGREEMENT ON DRY PLANK

Republican Congress Chief-tains Favor Resubmission Proposal

Washington — (AP) — The Republican prohibition plank was assailed in the senate today by Senator Tydings (D. Md.), and Borah (R. Idaho). They called it "hypocrisy."

Tydings, an anti-prohibitionist, brought up the question, reading a newspaper report of the text of the platform pledge agreed upon yesterday by a group of prominent Republicans.

Borah, a prohibitionist who drafted his party's dry 1928 plank, promptly joined in to describe the statement read by Tydings as "the rarest combination of hypocrisy and insincerity I have ever known."

Tydings, asserting it was intended to "catch" both wets and dries, said "its biggest piece of sham, hypocrisy, bunk and camouflage I have ever seen assembled out of about 150 words in any book or pamphlet in the English language."

Senator Borah said he understood there was a move to have both parties adopt the same plank. The Marylander replied he was informed that was true.

Washington — (AP) — Republican congressional leaders were declared today by Senator Watson to be in virtual agreement upon a prohibition plank calling for "prompt action by congress for resubmission of prohibition to state conventions."

The Indianan, who leads his party strategy in the senate, said yesterday's meeting of Republican legislators here and subsequent conversations had brought about a "unity of view" on a resubmission plank.

The tentative platform declaration, backed by these men—calls for enactment and condemns the saloon. Its submission provision reads:

"We favor prompt action by the congress to bring about resubmission of the eighteenth amendment to the people of the several states, acting through non-partisan conventions called for that sole purpose in accordance with article five to determine whether that amendment shall be retained, modified or repealed."

As a result of this meeting by the congressional leaders on the controversial point, its adoption by the national convention is regarded as certain in Republican quarters at the capitol.

TRAIN DERAILED, ENGINEER KILLED

Fireman and Conductor Among Injured—14 Passengers Slightly Hurt

Durand, Ill. — (AP) — The engineer was killed and several members of the train crew injured today when the Southwest limited of the Milwaukee railroad was derailed by a washout.

Engineer Rowe was killed instantly when the train hit a spot that had been softened by the steady rain. Fireman James saved himself by jumping, but he was injured as were two mail clerks.

Fourteen passengers were hurt, but not seriously when a sleeping car and coach left the rails. The last car on the train, a combination observation car and diner, remained on the track.

The train was bound for Milwaukee from Kansas City. The dead engineer was Harvey P. Rowe of Elkhor, Wis. Berry Emory of Milwaukee, the fireman, was unconscious when picked up after his leap from the cab. J. N. Kelley, the conductor, was among the injured.

QUAKES IN CUBA

Santiago, Cuba — (AP) — Two earthquakes struck Santiago early today and sent residents of the city scurrying into parks, streets and open places.

The first shock, at 12:59 a. m., was a light one, but the second, at 1:05 a. m., was strong enough to remind people of the disastrous quake of last February.

THREE MEN INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Merrill — (AP) — Paul Kattmann, 34, of Wausau, is in critical condition in Holy Cross hospital here. His skull was fractured in an automobile collision yesterday.

Clarence Rasmussen, 39, of Wausau, suffered fractures of the collar bone and several ribs and Harris Berend, 43, of Wisconsin Rapids, is in the hospital with a broken leg. The three men, bound for Tomahawk on a fishing expedition, were crushed under their automobile after it struck a car being driven by William E. Passow of Mosinee.

FINDS ABANDONED BABY GIRL IN FLOWER BED

Burlington, Wis. — (AP) — Commotion in his bed of gladioli early yesterday aroused John Miller and his wife.

Investigating, he found a 3-week-old girl, crying lustily. Beside her lay a bundle of clothing and a bottle of milk. Miller noted that as he picked up the child an automobile which had been circling the block sped away.

WOMAN KILLED IN EARTHQUAKE

Three Reported Injured by Shocks in N. California and S. Oregon

Eureka, Calif. — (AP) — One woman was killed and three other persons injured in a severe earthquake which shook northern California and southern Oregon early today.

Mrs. Walter McCutcheon of Eureka, was fatally injured when the chimney of her home toppled over and crashed through the roof upon the family. Mr. McCutcheon suffered a broken leg and their three year old daughter, Louise, was slightly injured.

The other known victim was a bakery employe whose wrists were broken when the tremor jarred two bread trays together.

The quake was reported "very strong" in Klamath Falls, Ore., 135 miles northeast of Eureka, and felt in San Francisco, 285 miles to the south. Redding, 85 miles east of Eureka, reported it "severe."

A number of shocks in Arata, a village seven miles from Eureka, were raged. Four distinct shocks were felt here, all coming in rapid succession at about 12:40 a. m.

Property damage in Eureka was confined largely to fallen chimneys, broken water mains which flooded basements of homes, broken windows and crockery.

Old residents here compared the shocks with the 1905 earthquake which rocked the coast and caused the fire which destroyed San Francisco.

RELIEF IN MEXICO

Mexico City — (AP) — The federal government agencies in the state of Jalisco were ordered today to cooperate with Gov. Sebastian Alende in relief work following last Friday's earthquake which took a heavy toll in lives and property damage.

The government reported that a considerable section of the state was in a bad way. Many thousands of homes were destroyed, he said, and at least 400 dead and injured were reported from widespread areas.

Medical corps and food brigades were hastily organized in Guadalajara to be sent to the points worst affected, and Governor Alende and his staff left Guadalajara yesterday to direct the relief work.

A Guadalajara dispatch received here today said that the known dead and injured totaled in the thousands, but officials said they believed the figure was exaggerated.

EXPECT HOOVER SIGNATURE ON BILL AT ONCE

Vote in Upper House Completes Congressional Action on Measure

SEE BALANCED BUDGET

Millions of New Taxpayers Added to Federal Roll by Revenue Act

Washington — (AP) — The senate today accepted the compromise tax bill, completing congressional action and sending it to President Hoover for signature.

By adopting the conference report adjusting differences with the house of representatives, the senate ended the intense struggle that went into the making of the $1,115,500,000 bill. The president is ready to sign at once.

Along with the millions in economies being sought in legislation still pending, this measure is expected to balance the now sadly unsteady budget of the government.

Millions of new taxpayers are added to the federal roll by the bill. Income taxes for individuals and corporations are raised permanently to the level just below the high war time rates.

Many New Taxes

Rain And Slim Rations Fail To Check Drive Of Bonus Army

EXTRA POLICE ON GUARD AS LOBBIES GROW

Officials Try to Avert Rush on Offices of Congress Members

Washington—(AP)—Rain and slim army rations failed today to dim the fire of the "bonus expeditionary force," as its leaders continued their drive for immediate cash payment of service certificates.

So energetic was the lobbying by increased numbers in the house and senate office buildings that extra police were stationed at strategic points. No attempt was made to restrict visits to the congressmen, but officers hoped to hold the war veterans down to one or two callers at a time.

Metropolitan police, meanwhile, estimated they had food enough to last through tomorrow. Approximately 100 arrived this morning from Alexandria, 250 came from Berkeley, Pennsylvania, and 185 more are due from Baltimore. The total here now is more than 2,500.

P. D. Glassford, superintendent of police, requested George Almaz, Portland, Oregon, commander-in-chief of the veterans, to make muster rolls of all men to eliminate all but bonafide former soldiers.

House Vote Next Week
A house vote on the $200,000,000 cash bonus issue is scheduled for next Monday. Representative Patman (D., Tex.) sponsor of the bill, said no effort is being made by him to secure an earlier vote, which would require a special rule or a two-thirds majority to suspend the rules.

A parade from the White House to the capitol, is planned by the bonus marchers for tomorrow night. They have been denied access to go home even though food supplies are low.

Walter W. Waters of Portland, Ore., instigator of the veteran March movement, formally resigned as leader today in a neatly pencilled note to Glassford, leaving Almaz as commander and George Kleinholz, also of Portland, Ore., as vice commander-in-chief.

Police funds for feeding the veterans were exhausted when Captain William G. Scott, in charge of the commissary, purchased $200 worth of beef, beans, potatoes, rice, coffee, milk and sugar.

Police estimated there would be $400 in the capital by tomorrow night with no prospect of food for Wednesday.

Trucks will be available Thursday, for transportation of all those who wish to leave the city.

At Pittsburgh police mobilized at dawn today to insure order when the 1,500 men approaching that city from west and north arrived. Four units of marchers were escorted quickly through the city yesterday. Many had no time to eat, so quickly did they move on. At Williamsport, Pa., however, marchers donated food.

Two hundred and fifty marchers were given a box car transportation by the Pennsylvania railroad from Old Robey, Ind., yesterday and were due in Washington tomorrow. At Kansas City 180 men outmaneuvered police and boarded a freight for St. Louis, while 500 others mobilized at Wichita. A Brawley, Calif., unit of 30 or more abandoned motor transportation at Huma, Ariz., and continued on by train.

Method Deplored
Opposition to this method of urging bonus payments appeared frequently today among veterans themselves. The leader of 300 at Dallas resigned as their commander when they refused to leave the railway yards after being warned to do so. A New York minister who managed a machine gun in the war led the men in prayer for success on their journey.

In Boston a contemplated march was cancelled. At Lincoln, Neb., the executive committee of the Nebraska American legion characterized the "bonus army" movements as "un-American and revolutionary."

Plans were resorting to various means to discourage efforts to "draft" freight trains. For the most part the railroads sought to avoid any display of force. At Greensboro, N. C., the journey of 200 marchers was interrupted when the railroad company sidetracked a train on which they were riding. Other railroads were delaying movement of freight trains when it appeared the marchers would demand accommodations.

Fail to Seize Them
The 400 men who were asked at Cleveland in their attempt to commandeer a freight ride to Washington spent Sunday in a suburb washing their clothes and laying plans for future action. Various delegations, riding in trucks from points in Michigan, Illinois and other mid-western states, continued toward the capital.

Talk of Communism was heard in several groups, but invariably the marchers indicated they would have nothing to do with any "reds" who might be among them. The delegations that left New York city Saturday split because one group complained the other was composed of Communists.

Thirty-five Chicago veterans decided after reaching Ohio to turn back and took a freight from Toledo, west bound, last night.

A new unit of "several hundred" men was being formed at Lancaster, Pa., and expected to start for Washington during the day.

None of the marchers has indicated any definite plan for urging passage of the two billion dollar bonus measure other than the hope that the sight of several thousand veterans in the capital may concentrate attention on the bill.

MAKE WEALTHY BACK SCHOOLS, SAYS CALLAHAN

All Children Should Have Equal Opportunities, He Declares

Equal distribution of tax monies for the improvement of all schools in poor and wealthy districts was advocated in an address by John Callahan, state superintendent of schools at the annual convention of Outagamie county school board members at Wilson Junior high school Saturday afternoon. Approximately 600 attended the session. The other speaker on the afternoon program was Prof. W. C. Hewitt, Oshkosh State Teachers' college.

"Wealth should pay taxes for all education," Mr. Callahan declared. "If the schools of today are to mould good citizenship it is necessary that every child be given equal opportunities, regardless of its status in life."

Discussing the Wisconsin school system, the speaker said it was recognized as one of the best in the United States. He stressed the importance of cooperation between various school units, stating that the various county systems should be integrated.

Mr. Callahan told about the comprehensive survey conducted by his department at Madison in which schools throughout the state were analyzed. He said the department also analyzed the financial conditions of various districts.

Traces Legislation
The speaker also traced various school legislation during the past 10 years. He urged school board members to send representatives to the state legislature who are in favor of improved school conditions.

The need for cooperation between the teacher, home and pupil was stressed by Professor Hewitt. He said many school board members have made a success of their school by cooperating with the teacher. The speaker scorned unjust criticism, and said it never built a good school.

Outlining modern methods of teacher training, the speaker said that teachers colleges today are becoming more interested in the "character building" side of education. An unhealthy school environment results in a poor school and unruly and unprincipled pupils, he said.

He said it was important that parents know what their children are doing in school. Too many parents are interested only when the report card is brought home, and then if a child is behind they begin to criticize, he said. He urged fathers and mothers to take a keen interest in every subject their child is studying in school.

HERE'S WAY TO KEEP DOGS FROM SHRUBBERY

The problem of keeping cats and dogs out of flower beds, shrubbery, and in general where they are not wanted, appears solved by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Simply spray the flowers, shrubs, or premises with a dilute nicotine sulphate spray and cats and dogs will avoid them, the department says. The spray is harmless to plants and is very offensive to animals. It is widely used against sucking insects. As cats and dogs have a keener sense of smell than humans, they can smell the spray even when it is applied so thinly that people are unaware of its presence.

Commercial preparations usually contain 40 per cent of nicotine sulphate. Such preparations should be used at the rate of one and one-half teaspoonful to a gallon of water. The spray evaporates and should be renewed after rains, or about once every two weeks in ordinary weather.

STOLEN FEAST!

Chicago—(AP)—Two boys with stomach-aches were being sought by the police today. They stole James Ross' ice cream, and "hot dog" truck and drove around until all the stock was gone and then abandoned the vehicle. Presumably they ate everything before they quit.

POLITICS BARS REAL ACTION IN STOCK INQUIRY

Probe Now Regarded as Side-show Without Any Real Significance

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1932, by Post Pub. Co. Washington.—If anything was needed to put the political complexion on the senate committee's investigation of the New York Stock exchange, it is the focusing of attention on transactions in the market that went back as far as 1927 and 1928 and brought into the headlines the name of John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National committee.

Mr. Raskob is not any too popular with the Democrats from the south but when they saw the committee investigation turned into an effort to prove the Democratic business men somehow responsible for market declines their indignation was only tempered by their sense of humor.

From the start it has been believed here that the senate inquiry may possibly bring some constructive results with respect to short selling. A substantial number of experts think it should be curbed and that it has a disastrous psychological effect. But all chance of getting the congress to do anything about it has vanished now that the investigation has been given a political aspect.

Curious part of the episode is that the Republican administration has been presumed to be back of the whole thing from the beginning. While names of Republican business men have been mentioned, the steady effort of the committee to get at some of the higher-ups in the Democratic party has not escaped attention.

The investigation is one of those muck-raking affairs which comes periodically in congress and especially at political sessions. The Democrats have not been blameless in this respect. They too have carried on such warfare when in control of one or the other houses of congress. Back in 1910 when the house became Democratic there were a dozen investigations under way designed to undermine popular confidence in Republicanism.

Thus the idea of using a congressional committee to carry on political warfare is not new. The stock market investigation was not believed at the outset to have this purpose. Whatever chance it had to go into the merits of stock exchange transactions and bring about needed reforms has now disappeared. The inquiry will drag along and its voluminous testimony will fill hundreds of thousands of stenographic transcripts that ultimately find their way to the committee on useless papers.

Certainly most of the Democrats aren't particularly interested any more and only a handful of either party cares anything about the inquiry now. The brokers in New York who worried so much about the inquiry will drag along and its voluminous testimony will fill hundreds of thousands of stenographic transcripts that ultimately find their way to the committee on useless papers.

As far as the capitol is concerned, the inquiry is one of the numerous side-shows that get a lot of publicity but carry little if any real significance. Short selling is not a violation of law as yet and as long as the inquiry is treated as persons who do not hold public office it can be considered as academic.

38 CASES OF DISEASE REPORTED IN COUNTY

Thirty-eight cases of contagious diseases were reported from Outagamie county in the week ending, July 28, according to a report received by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, from the state board of health. Twenty-six cases of measles, five of tuberculosis and one each of chicken pox and whooping cough were reported from Appleton. Bovine reported a case of chicken pox. Center one case of measles, Cicero one of measles, New London one of scarlet fever, and Oneida one of tuberculosis.

AWARDED MEDAL FOR BRAVERY IN MASSACRE

Chicago—(AP)—The war department has just awarded a purple heart to Dr. George Edward Meyer for his part in the Balangiga massacre in the Philippines nearly 31 years ago.

Announcement of the award was made yesterday. Dr. Meyer, now a clinical professor of oral surgery at Northwestern university, was bugler of the guard at Samar, P. I., Sept. 28, 1901, when a band of natives surprised the American garrison. Killed 48 and wounded 78.

TWO COMMITTEES ARE TO MEET THIS WEEK

Two county board committees will meet at the courthouse Wednesday afternoon, June 8, according to John E. Hentschel, county clerk. The committees will allow bills and transact other routine business. Building and grounds and education groups are those which are to meet.

HARNESS MAKERS, LEATHER DEALERS GROW OPTIMISTIC

Madison—(AP)—Harness makers and leather dealers of Wisconsin met here today for a two-day convention with optimism the dominant note.

The depression is bringing the horse back to farms and thereby directly helping the harness and leather industry, it was pointed out by some convention goers.

Others pointed to a recent survey by Wayne Dinsmore, Chicago, secretary of the Horse Association of America, who said he found that horses were displacing tractors in the midwest. He found an average of 18 horses for every tractor in Illinois and Iowa.

STANDING OF LEADING FIRMS STILL STRONG

Find Three Years of Depression Has Failed to Shake Big Corporations

BY BRADLEY W. TRENT
Copyright, 1932, by Cons. Press New York—(CPA)—After almost three years of depression, the financial position of leading American industrial corporations is still strong. This is the reassuring note contained in a survey made public today by Moody's Investors service, which has completed an exhaustive analysis of the financial position of 334 prominent companies. The survey sets forth that the ratio of cash to current assets for these companies, taken in the aggregate, has increased from 29.4 per cent at the end of 1929 to 34.6 per cent at the end of 1931, while in the same period current assets have increased from 48 times to 6.5 times current liabilities.

The survey also goes into the record of dividend reductions. Analyzing the dividend coverage afforded by earnings of 490 industrials, rails and utilities by groups, it points out that despite the sharp decline in dividend payments since the peak in March 1930 the net earnings on common stock have fallen at a considerably faster rate.

Whereas in 1931 the dividends paid on common stock fell only 28.6 per cent from 1929, the net earnings on common for the same years dropped 87.7 per cent. Total common dividends paid in 1931 were more than triple the earnings on common shares.

In the case of 38 railroads, common dividend payments in 1931 decreased 31.1 per cent from 1929 while earnings on common fell 90.2 per cent. These railroads paid a total of $100,000,000 in dividends in 1931, an amount three and a half times net earnings on common in 1931.

The utilities stand out as the only major group which earned more than common dividend disbursements in 1931. For 28 utility corporations common dividends increased 40.8 per cent from 1929 to 1931, while net earnings on the common decreased 6 per cent. However, net earnings on the common in 1931 were still about 9 per cent above the common dividend disbursements.

It is pointed out that these figures represent grand total results, with the profits of some companies offset by deficits of others. Moody's concludes that a fair number of individual companies will be well able to continue their common dividend payments.

"As a whole, the financial position of large industrial corporations and utilities was very strong at the beginning of the depression," Moody's report states. "Farly because of this situation, common dividend disbursements have been too liberal and, for rails and industrials in the aggregate, they now greatly exceed earnings on common stocks. The utilities, apart from certain holding companies, have experienced little trouble in maintaining their position, since their earnings have proved remarkably stable."

"Since an aggregate 1932 deficit in earnings on common is indicated for the railroads and is quite possible for the industrials as a whole, further large reductions in dividends appear unavoidable. It is also probable that adjustment of dividend payments to current earnings levels will be more prompt than hitherto, during the remainder of the depression."

APPLETON MAN NAMED U. C. T. GRAND CHAPLAIN

Wisconsin Rapids—(AP)—The grand council of Wisconsin of United Commercial Travelers Saturday selected Fond du Lac as their 1933 convention city at the closing session of the thirty-fourth annual convention. Four hundred delegates and members of the auxiliary attended the convention.

Officers named were: Grand secretary, J. B. Kolsta, Fond du Lac, grand junior counselor, Harold Smith, Racine, grand past counselor, C. F. Hertlein, Superior, grand secretary, L. G. Everson, Milwaukee, grand treasurer, F. R. Brigham, Janesville, grand conductor E. A. Seelman, Milwaukee, grand page, A. Stengel, Manitowish, grand sentinel, D. R. Blennis, Madison, and grand chaplain, F. R. Finn, Appleton.

A. D. Shattuck, Chippewa Falls, Carl Egan, Wausau, E. E. Weiler, Milwaukee, and E. A. Forsa, La Crosse, were named members of the executive committee.

WALSH SOUGHT AS CHAIRMAN BY ROOSEVELT

Move Seen as Defiance to Smith—Moses Sees G. O. P. Resubmission Plank

(By The Associated Press)
An unexpected gesture of supreme confidence in the presidential camp of Franklin D. Roosevelt diverted political attention today from significant prohibition developments in both parties.

The Roosevelt generalissimo, James A. Farley, deliberately bucked Alfred E. Smith and others opposing the New York governor's nomination by announcing yesterday that Senator Walsh of Montana, would be sought as permanent chairman of the Democratic convention instead of Jovett Shouse.

The latter, chairman of the party executive committee, considered anti-Roosevelt by the governor's supporters, previously had been picked up by the committee on arrangements in a harmony-seeking division which gave the keynoter post to Senator Barkley of Kentucky staunch Roosevelt man.

Simultaneously with this development came a statement from a conference of Republican congressional leaders in Washington that the party platform would carry a resubmission plank. Senator Moses of New Hampshire, was the spokesman.

And in North Carolina, which has been staunchly dry a quarter century, Robert R. Reynolds, a senatorial candidate running on an out-right repeal platform was actually leading the dry Senator Cameron Morrison, veteran political leader of the state, for the Democratic senatorial nomination. As other candidates, dividing a 50,000 vote, blocked a majority, the issue was destined to be settled in a second primary.

This week selection of delegates to both Republican and Democratic conventions will be all but completed. The Republicans chose 31 in Indiana Wednesday, and 11 in Idaho Friday. Tomorrow the Democrats pick Florida's 14 and Mississippi's 20. Thursday Virginia's 24 will be chosen, Idaho completing the week's list by naming eight on Friday.

The Republican meeting in the capital canvassed with James R. Garfield, the designated chairman of the convention resolutions committee, all both sides of the issue. Moses said it was understood by the participants that all decisions were subject to revision at Chicago and Garfield announced an open mind, but nevertheless the statement on prohibition was made an unequivocal prediction.

MILWAUKEE FIREMEN VOLUNTEER PAY CUT

Milwaukee—(AP)—Milwaukee's 1,000 firemen amazed citizens and pleased tax payers by volunteering to take a 10 per cent cut in pay.

The city administration, particularly Mayor J. W. Hoan, is opposed to pay cuts for municipal workers, but indications were that firemen will be permitted to slice their own salaries.

The decision to ask for a cut was reached at meetings of firemen last week. It was expected that the same impulse will overtake members of the police and several other city departments, and that it will result in a $500,000 saving to tax payers annually.

ELECTRIC WELDED BOAT LAUNCHED IN TOLEDO

Toledo—(AP)—The G. F. Becker, largest electric welded boat on the Great Lakes, was ready for service on the Detroit river today.

The ship, 64 feet long, was launched at the Scanes shipyard yesterday as 400 persons watched. Five-year-old Bernice Becker, daughter of Commodore Frank Becker of Detroit, owner of the boat, did the christening with a bottle of water from the Detroit river.

The boat is one unit without a bolt or rivet and is hole and leak-proof. It has a 16-foot beam, a draft of three feet, eight inches, and has a cruising speed of 15 miles an hour.

WET LEADING DRY IN NORTH CAROLINA

Asheville Lawyer Has Edge of 2,000 Votes Over Sen. Morrison

Charlotte, N. C.—(AP)—Robert R. Reynolds, wet candidate from Asheville, held a lead of nearly 2,000 votes over his closest competitor, Senator Cameron Morrison, champion of prohibition, as unofficial returns were tabulated early today from Saturday's five-cornered primary contest for the Democratic nomination for the United States senate.

The 45-year-old lawyer and author forged into first place after trailing in second earlier. A run-off primary July 2 seemed assured.

Also at stake was the short term from election day in November until the beginning of the full term. On the face of reports from 864 precincts in this race Senator Morrison had a margin of more than 5,000 votes over Reynolds. The tally was 75,771 to 70,033.

Morrison, 63-year-old former governor, was appointed to the senate a year and a half ago to succeed the late Senator Lee S. Overman. A few weeks later he took the floor and denounced the "home rule" liquor control plan advanced by John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman.

Repeal of the prohibition laws was advocated by Reynolds. He described himself as a "temperance candidate."

Reynolds had heretofore not figured extensively in North Carolina politics. He has traveled much and has published a book "Around the World With Bob Reynolds."

In addition to his opposition to the eighteenth amendment, he advocated full payment of the soldiers' bonus.

ROBS TROOPERS OF GUNS, TAKES AUTO

Gunman Talks Way Out of Arrest by City Police at Wheeling, W. Va.

Wheeling, W. Va.—(AP)—A gunman who held up a cigar store, talked himself out of arrest by city police, held up two state troopers, relieved them of their pistols and drove away in their automobile is sought tonight.

The suspect is believed to be a man who registered at a hotel here last Friday as H. S. Fink of Cleveland.

A man of his description obtained $100 in a holdup of a cigar store in the heart of the business district early this morning. He was traced to the hotel where police talked with Fink in his room. He convinced them he was innocent and while they went down stairs to check on him further, he escaped down a rear elevator shaft. Two hours later state troopers found him in a filling station nine miles east of here.

The man signed the officers first and forced them to surrender their weapons. He shot in a motorcycle tire to thwart pursuit.

CAR SLIGHTLY DAMAGED IN CRASH AT CORNER

A car driven by Neil Given, 233 W. College-ave, was damaged about 11:30 Saturday night in a collision at the corner of W. College-ave and Superior-st, with a machine driven by John H. Starkel, 523 W. Seventh-st. Given, driving west, stopped for the signal lights and Starkel, driving in the same direction, crashed into the rear of the first machine, according to the police records. The rear end of Given's machine was damaged.

Socialist Regime In Chile Won't Act Immediately To Seize American Holdings

San Diego, Chile—(AP)—American business interests in Chile, whose investments run into hundreds of millions, were assured unofficially today that the new Socialist regime would take no steps to confiscate most of the American properties, for the present, at least.

The information from an authoritative source considerably heartened the Americans, who had seen in the results of Saturday's revolution the end of their huge interests, with a paper value of $1,000,000,000.

It was taken to mean that the new socialist regime, under Carlos Dávila, former ambassador to Washington, intends to proceed more slowly with foreigners than with domestic capitalist enterprises, in fulfilling its pledge to establish Socialism.

The understanding on both sides seemed to be, however, that the $75,000,000 investment in the Co-sach Nitrate combine would not be included in this policy of toleration and that these interests would be nationalized immediately. The Co-sach Combine is American-controlled.

The revolutionary junta was moving swiftly today to set up its proposed Socialist regime. It prepared a number of decrees enabling the "first Socialist republic of Chile" to take over immediately the productive forces of the country, to redistribute wealth by the imposition of confiscatory taxes and to seize various privately capitalized interests.

While the program was not completed, it was learned from a reliable source that it probably would include:

Organization, distribution and control of foodstuffs by the state; use of all means in its power to feed everybody in Chile; heavy taxes on large fortunes and incomes; a convention to write a new Socialist constitution; division and colonization of large estates; recognition of Soviet Russia; progressive steps toward full socialization of credits; provision of employment for everybody, and granting to the poorer classes "the health and welfare to which they have a legitimate right as the builders of all riches."

The program also would include state monopolies for oil, matches, tobacco, iodine, alcohol, sugar, foreign commerce and possibly internal commerce; it was learned, and prohibition of the importation of articles-classed as luxuries, such as silks, automobiles and perfumes.

TWO APPLETON WOMEN DENTAL BODY OFFICERS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Miss Mildred Reis of Green Bay yesterday was re-elected president of the Wisconsin State Dental Assistants' association.

Other officers, chosen at the annual meeting of the organization here, are: Alma Prall, Oshkosh; first vice president, Viola Benke, Appleton; second vice president, Edith Denis, Green Bay; secretary, Esther Haxon, Appleton; treasurer, Olga Kurum, Madison; Eleanor Dove, Oshkosh; Beth Elnke, Milwaukee; and Sophia Mendelson, Milwaukee, directors.

The dental assistants heard addresses by Dr. G. N. Wilson, dean of the Marquette University Dental school, Dr. T. A. Hargrove, Fond du Lac, and Dr. E. B. Parkinson, Madison.

300 ARE ENROLLED IN 24 COUNTY 4-H CLUBS

Three hundred Outagamie county farm boys and girls are enrolled in 24 4-H clubs which will operate during the coming season, according to reports filed with Miss Harriet Thompson, county home demonstration agent, and Gus Sell, county agricultural agent. Enrollments were due on June 1, but it is expected that several more clubs will be organized before June 15, bringing the total enrollment to between 375 and 450. Last year there were 23 clubs in the county with 291 members.

CONGRESS BOOSTS FEE ON PASSPORTS TO $10

The fee for passports has been increased from $6 to $10, according to word received by Sydney M. Shannon, clerk of courts, from the federal passport department in Washington, D. C. The bill providing for the increase was passed by congress last month. Mr. Shannon also has been informed that existing passports may be renewed for a two-year period at a fee of $5. The original passports are valid for two years. Previously it was possible to renew passports for four years.

JEWS TO OBSERVE "FEAST OF WEEKS"

"Shabuoth" Commemorates Anniversary of Ten Commandments

Shabuoth, the Feast of Weeks, will be observed by Jewish families of Appleton next Friday. The festival, which commemorates the anniversary of the reception of the Ten Commandments by Moses, starts at sundown Thursday and ends Saturday. At the Synagogue services will be held at 7:30 Thursday and Friday evenings, and from 9 to 11 o'clock Friday and Saturday mornings. A children's service will be held in the Sunday School of Zion temple Sunday morning. Shabuoth is sometimes called Pentecost and sometimes the "feast of early harvest." It is also "the time of the giving-of-the-law." These names represent the varied events in Jewish history which have grown up around this festival. It is called Pentecost because it occurs 50 days after the beginning of the Passover holiday, or seven weeks after the

602 SCALES, MEASURES SEALED BY HODGINS

Six hundred and two scales and measures were sealed last month by Joseph Hodgins, city sealer of weights and measures. Thirty were adjusted, seven condemned for repairs, and seven condemned from further use. In his tryout work, Mr. Hodgins made 39 visits, finding 123 scales correct and six incorrect. He retested four gasoline pumps and inspected three computing scales.

counting of the Omer, which begins with the second day of Passover. All this is linked up with the early agricultural significance of Shabuoth, for at this season the first ripe fruits of the wheat harvest were brought to the temple in Jerusalem. With the decline in the agricultural life of the Jews, new stress was laid upon this season as the time when the ten commandments were given at Sinai. True to the teachings of Judaism, folklore represents the law as given from lowly Mr. Sinai, symbolic of the humility which accompanies true learning. At the same time the law was given in the desert to imply that it belonged to all people, just as the desert is the possession of no one group or nation.

PERMITS FOR MAY TOTAL $63,695

Major Portion of Amount Was for Construction of New Residences

Building permits during May totaled $63,695, according to the monthly report of John N. Weiland, building inspector. The major portion of this, $37,600 was for nine new residences and garages. Permits were issued for 14 residence additions and alterations, cost $5,375; 21 garages, cost $2,570; one mercantile addition and alteration, cost $9,000; one manufacturing plant addition and alteration, cost $700; and three miscellaneous structures, $8,050. Mr. Weiland made 71 building, 14 heating, and six sign inspections during the month, held one meeting of the board of appeals, and investigated 44 complaints and calls. He investigated two boiler and heating

$5,066 SPENT IN MAY BY CITY PARK BOARD

Park board expenditures during April totaled $5,066, and during May $1,605, according to the monthly reports of the board. The April total included the payment of a $3,000 bond and interest of $1,500.

During April $52 was spent on the City park, $75 on the Municipal golf course, $34 on Alicia, $12 on Jones, $22 on Erb, and $93 on Pierce park. In May $370 was spent on Pierce park, $491 on Alicia, $115 on Erb, $28, on Jones, $137 on the city park, and $297 on the golf course.

VON HIPPER'S PART
The news that Admiral Franz von Hipper died in Germany the other day failed to get more than a paragraph in most newspapers. And yet Von Hipper was a leading actor in some of the few really spectacular, panoramic scenes the World War afforded.

The World war wasn't long on pictorial effects. Its battles were too big, its operations too extended; one man could seldom see more than a detail of the whole; such tremendous fights as the Somme or Verdun were too vast for any panorama.

But there were a few great spectacles, and this Von Hipper had his part in some of the greatest—the battle of Jutland.

This took place on May 31, 1916. The German high seas fleet had ventured out into the North Sea, and Hipper, commanding the cruiser squadron, was some 50 miles in advance. Coming down from the northwest was the British grand fleet, preceded by the battle cruiser squadron under Admiral Beatty. It was Beatty and Von Hipper who collided first.

The battle that followed furnished, really, three "pictures."

The first came when Von Hipper, turning south, tried to lure Beatty back into the jaws of the high seas fleet. A running fight ensued—and then, his fragile battle cruisers racing like mad, the English commander suddenly saw smoke on the horizon far to the south, and made out—presently, the 22 dreadnaughts of the German fleet steaming straight toward him. Here, surely, was one of the great panoramas of the war.

The second was similar. Beatty now fled north, with the entire German fleet in pursuit. There was violent fighting at the head of the line; and presently, as the smoke cloud lifted, the Germans saw before them the high tripod masts of the 28 battleships of the British grand fleet. Another panorama!

Then, late at night, the third; the Germans running home, darkness on the water, the only lights the winking flashes from the guns, extending all along the horizon, as two of the greatest fleets ever built struck at one another in the dark.

Three great spectacles—and Von Hipper playing a leading role in all of them!

THE CASE OF MR. BLACKMER
Having paid nearly $4,000,000 into the federal treasury to be relieved of his civil liability for income taxes, and his evidence against Fall, Sinclair and others now being without value to the government, Henry M. Blackmer, Colorado oil man, is attempting to compromise several criminal indictments returned against him in Denver for alleged income tax fraud. Whatever he says he wants to come home. He has learned that an exile may escape from this country but can never escape from himself.

The question involved in handling his petition is without personal aspects. It really doesn't involve Mr. Blackmer any more. It involves the majesty, the power; the sovereignty of the government.

A judge that is all forgiveness is a judge unjust. A government that feebly overlooks attacks aimed at it of the character fashioned by Mr. Blackmer and his friends is not a government that is showing mercy but a government that is showing debility.

Mr. Fall didn't go to prison because anyone was thrilled at locking up a decrepit and aged man suffering from tubercular infection but because Mr. Fall stood as the symbol of an attack upon the citadel of honest, and therefore, dependable government. As Senator Walsh stated the other day: "If Mr. Blackmer wishes to return to America he must stand trial; otherwise let him remain abroad forever!"

VETERANS' DISABILITIES

Without questioning the great need for veterans' relief, it is impossible to overlook the many unjustifiable expenditures that have followed the passage of legislation intended primarily to benefit the man who really suffered wound or disease as a result of his war experience.

Investigation is disclosing flagrant abuses by those who are taking advantage of our extremely liberal pension laws, and these abuses are steadily growing worse. For example, the number of men getting allowances for "disabilities" attributed to war service increased from 174,000 in 1922 to 299,000 in 1929 and to 313,000 in 1931. It has been stated by the council of the New York Academy of Medicine that "it is hardly conceivable that any disease would develop as late as 1931 due to war service which was concluded more than fourteen years ago." Yet cash "disability" allowances now go to about 368,000 veterans and it is estimated that by 1933 the total will be 560,000, unless the present pension laws are amended.

"Disability" has become a joke. In every community such allowances are being paid to men who by no stretch of the imagination can justly claim service disability. Many receiving compensation have full-time work and enjoy sound health. Men who tried to avoid service because of flat feet are now drawing pensions for the same defect and instances are coming to light of many ex-officers drawing full "disability" allowances while employed by the government at full-time salaries.

Grotesque and cruel injustices abound under the pension laws and the amendments which have been adopted since 1918. Instances can be cited without end of liberal and unworthy allowances while honest cases receive inadequate compensation.

There is urgent need for congressional investigation and legislation which shall remove the gross inequities and abuses now altogether too common, yet at the same time protect the veteran who is honestly entitled to compensation and to whom the government owes the best of treatment.

A GOOD PLAN

The Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce has recently taken several steps as indicated by resolutions passed at meetings of its board of directors, showing not only the expected spirit of helpfulness but presenting to the state sensible methods of advancement.

In one resolution it refers to the advantageous position held by the state "in the matter of products of shop, factory and farm" and voices a call that "there be set apart a week for the purpose of educating the public to the advantages and opportunities of Wisconsin."

The Chamber of Commerce has the purpose of bringing directly to the people of the state many facts of force and importance that we overlook in our daily lives so that they may have a better grasp and a clearer comprehension of what Wisconsin in all its many activities and shades of color really means to its people.

The week has been designated as that of September 25 next but there remains the necessity upon the part of the Chamber to plan that week with care. It must not only be presented by displays of Wisconsin products but accompanied by a story in the form of charts which cannot be visualized in the mere display of products.

When the people of Wisconsin look over a carefully prepared, intimate and accurate picture of the agriculture, finance, industry and commerce of the state they will become better educated to its needs and may more intelligently shape their own conduct to its improvement.

Opinions Of Others

PONTIAC SETS AN EXAMPLE

Some of the things regarded as axiomatic during the period when all poverty was supposed to have been abolished and everybody was getting rich had to be unlearned. But a simple principle survives and is being adopted by the wise: When income lessens, cut expenses. Unfortunately, the governments have been about the last to accept this rule.

But the City of Pontiac is setting a good example. County seat of Oakland county, Pontiac finds itself involved in the bewildering backwash of a boom that succumbed to depression. Not that Pontiac has lost heart or is dubious about its prospects, but the authorities directing Pontiac's affairs realize that under temporary stress costs of city government must be made to fit probable income.

So Pontiac has reduced its operative budget. The cut amounts to nearly 45 per cent below the budget of last year. That is a good example that will be followed wherever the people who support government are worrying over mounting taxes.—Detroit News.

WONDER if there'll be a third party this year? . . . hasn't been for a long time, not since back when Teddy Roosevelt's Bull Moose organization pulled enough votes away from the regular Republicans to permit the Democrats and Woodrow Wilson to win the election . . . it's not a bad guess to prophesy that if the two major parties don't get some positive and helpful planks into their platforms and if their candidates aren't powerful enough, SOMETHING like a third party is going to happen . . . in fact, it might not be a bad idea to organize a third party led by men who are more interested in seeing the country put back on its feet and the government operating on an efficient basis than they are in personal and political gains . . . it gives us a complete and annoying pain in the neck to see a government not run for and by the people but for and by SOME people . . .

A home down in Rock Island, Illinois, was raided by prohibition agents. A few ounces of liquor stored away in a cupboard were found. Licker in that quantity IS for medicinal purposes—you can't throw a party with an eye dropper.

Just the same, those few ounces of liquor brought the owner of the home a $100 fine.

The agents should visit almost any home in the Fox River Valley. The whole federal debt could be cleaned up if all THOSE fines were levied on the Rock Island basis.

Every so often, Amelia Earhart Putnam does something which makes us like her better.

Amelia has been in Paris lately and the Parisians have been raising no end of fuss over her. Her husband (who—though it's hardly worth mentioning—paid for her flight across the Atlantic) landed on a boat the other day and hopped over to the hotel where Amelia was getting a great cheer. He tried to stay in the background but Amelia dragged him out on the balcony and made him take a hand, too.

THE COQUETTISH VIOLET

I'll swear the dainty violet
Was born to be a gay coquette,
For nestling 'neath a shady tree
Today I saw one wink at me.

'Twas not my fancy! Hours and hours
I've spent among the shrubs and flowers—
And peonies never lift an eye
And flirt with me when I pass by.

The roses very plainly show
By stately conduct that they know—
And have known since my plot began—
That I'm a settled, married man.

The tiger lilies hold their place
With highly cultured poise and grace
And act like ladies at a tea
When near them I may chance to be.

But violets, scented doubly sweet,
Lie waiting in some dim retreat.
To capture men who pass their way—
I'll swear one winked at me today!

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Monday, June 10, 1907
Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens, Jr., were to entertain a number of friends at a yacht ride on Lake Winnebago the following Thursday afternoon in honor of the Misses Mary Van Nortwick, Florence Boyd, and Maude MacCaul, all of whom were to be married within a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Wescott left the previous night for Minneapolis, Minn., where they were to spend two weeks with friends and relatives. James and Joseph Stimson, who had been ranching in the vicinity of Delhart, Texas, were in the city to spend a month at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. H. Stimson.

Miss Grace Stimson, Rockford, Ill., was in the city to spend several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. H. Stimson.

Peter Kornely spent the previous Sunday with friends and relatives at Manitowish.

Mrs. Alice Holt had returned to her home in Appleton after spending a week as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Keyes, Wausau.

E. C. Collins returned the previous Saturday from a three weeks' trip through the northern part of Wisconsin and Michigan.

TEN YEARS AGO

Monday, June 5, 1922

William H. Zuehlke, treasurer of the Aid Association for Lutherans and assistant postmaster here for more than 20 years, that afternoon was nominated for postmaster to succeed Gustave Keller whose term expired the previous January.

The marriage of Miss Minnie Voelckes, daughter of Mrs. Augusta Voelckes, 482 North-st., to Horace Ward, 483 Pacific-st., took place at 8 o'clock the previous Saturday evening at the home of the Rev. C. W. Cross.

Applications for marriage licenses had been filed with Herman H. Kamp's county clerk, by William A. Timm, Sherwood, and Mrs. Anna Miller, Appleton; John H. Matson and Miss Ella Stark, both of Appleton; August W. Lautenschlager, Appleton, and Miss Lorena Fischer, New London.

Thomas Flanagan left that day for Superior where he with F. J. Rooney was to represent the local council of Knights of Columbus at the annual convention.

Mrs. Catherine Lohman who had been visiting relatives at Chicago for several weeks, returned home that day.

Mrs. Herman Leistering and children were at Clintonville visiting Mrs. Leistering's parents.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

TRAINING A CHILD FOR THE NEUROTIC LIFE

In this the third session of the school for nervous imposition the preceptress begins the lesson with a brief review of the preceding lesson. Remember how it went:

Yet if I allow her to go without her food she loses color and seems to get thinner to. (She is a four year old child who dwells an hour or more over her food and refuses to eat it, and if she is compelled to eat it probably ejects it from her stomach shortly afterward) I never have to scold or spank except at mealtime of just before mealtime. This affects me disastrously. I get nervous indigestion before I've even looked at food! So that is nervous indigestion!

In his excellent little book on "Nervous Indigestion" (Paul B. Hoeber, New York) Dr. Walter C. Alvarez first gives an instructive chapter on the effects of emotion on digestion, and then opens Chapter II with a candid statement that "nervous indigestion is a convenient term with which to designate all those gastrointestinal disturbances for which no organic cause can be found." In other words, if you are perfectly normal and healthy, as the teacher declares this little girl is, yet fuss over your food or get into a quarrel with your neighbor or receive a little note from the tax office apprising you that they're onto your little scheme to defraud the government, just before dinner, you are entitled to have "nervous indigestion"—the just why you blame it on your nerves when in fact your own conscience is to blame, perhaps we had better not inquire right now.

In his first recital the preceptress expressed the anxiety she feels for the effect her quarrels with her present pupil will have on a new pupil she expects to arrive in September. She is also somewhat perturbed over the effect of the bickering on her own digestion right now.

She is right about both cases. She complains that "the finest pediatricians in the city offer no remedy" for the four year old child's habit of dawdling for an hour or more over a meal and obstinately refusing to eat anything, or if forced to eat them vomiting the food shortly afterward. The pediatricians are generally second rate physicians who are specialists. It's a racket, and in this free country it has the sanction of the medical organization—at least the organized profession here has taken no step to curb the evil of specialism, altho resolutions have been passed and committees appointed to deal diffidently with the evil.

If quarreling and bickering over the child's diet or appetite or preferences is the cause of the child's habitual vomiting, the mother's nervous indigestion and the sad outlook for the little stranger in the office, and I think it is the cause, then wouldn't the obvious remedy be the best? Why not try it out for a while anyway. It can't do any harm. The remedy is simply to cease quarreling, bickering, worrying and fussing about what the child eats or does not eat. At the proper mealtime place suitable food on the table and let the child partake or eschew it. It is nobody's business to try to determine what the child shall like or not like. Nobody with the child's interest at heart will notice or make any comment whatever on the child's disposal of the food served. Of course there are a number of little minor considerations to be met, but there's the gist of it, all we can crowd into these narrow columns.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Infra-Red and Ultra-Violet
Please explain what Infra-Red and Ultra-Violet mean. I am thinking of taking sun lamp exposures in my home. Is there any particular type or kind you recommend? (E. S.)

Answer—The rainbow or spectrum thru a prism is always the signature of Roy G. Biv, (red, orange, yellow, green, blue indigo, violet) Rays beneath the red (infra-red) are invisible and give chemical effects. Plenty of infra-red in any radiant heat, or even in a hot water bottle or a soapstone or any other ordinary method of applying heat to the body. I do not advise the purchase or use of any such lamp, except for special purposes, under your physician's direction.

Honest Optician

Not being able to read or do close work I went to an optician to have my glasses changed. He said there was something wrong back of the eye and sent me to Dr. . . . an eye specialist. This doctor told me the glasses were all right but the kidneys were causing the trouble with my eyes. I am 45 years old . . . name of a good physician who will be reasonable . . . (Mrs. C. C. A.)

Answer—If all persons who hold themselves out as being able to diagnose and treat common errors of refraction or defects of eyesight were as honest and capable as your optician there would be no occasion for criticism. If you have no regular medical adviser or family doctor, why not ask the doctor who found what caused the impairment of eyesight to recommend one for you? I can give no information about costs, fees or terms, in any case. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

The Tynymites

By Hal Cochran

THE Tynies gazed upon the door to Tin Can Town and then, once more, the bushel basket shouted, "Walk right through the barrel, boys!"

"You'll see some sights to please you and you'll be glad you made this all. Don't be surprised if you are greeted with a lot of noise."

"You see, tin cans live in this place. They're glad to see a smiling face, for often they get lonely. You'll be welcome as can be."

"The tin cans I have brought along know this is where they all belong. From now on they'll do no more work, but just live happily."

"Oh, tell us more about this place, so we'll know what we're to face," said Duncy. "Why are tin cans here? What do they do all day?"

"And also where do they come from? Perhaps you think that I am dumb, but I must know the full details, or I'll be on my way."

The basket thought and said, "Well as long as you insist I tell, I'll just explain that every can comes to this place, at last."

"When its contents are taken out, it's thrown away and then, no doubt, it's rightly glad to rest here where its final days are passed."

"Each can does what it's s'posed to do and then its working days are through. In this town no one bothers it, or puts it on a shelf."

"No more will it be shipped around, and thus a peaceful life is found. The more I think of it, the more I'd like this life myself."

"And then the Tynies walked inside and very shortly Duncy cried, 'Oh, look! Here comes a strange tin can. Upon its head's a crown.'"

The Tin can shouted, with good cheer, "Well, well! You lads are welcome here! I once was just a sardine can. I'm king now, of this town!" (Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)

(The Tynies watch an interesting parade in the next story.)

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES
New York—On such a warm night it was a relief to get from a formal dinner and peat that absurd high collar. The telephone rang and I was hooked with some friends from out-of-town who were rearing to go places to see things.

They had boarded scarce backs for the New York address and the night club fever was them. They had heard about a centric master of ceremonies, rentily favor again, and want to go where he presides over the show. I must steer them.

So we went, and what did we for their money?

For one thing, we got in on the tag end of the brief show, and to wait for hours until the moon exhibition was under way.

A dance orchestra played interim, but the dime-size floor too pecked for boys and girls the wide open spaces. And the was to blatant for us to talk at our big table, when there were of things we might just as well talked about.

Palm scratching flunkies brought pygmy-size bottles of ginger ale, mineral water, and some punk for which mine hosts paid up. I must have hurt (well, not about pay) for people live and learn.

They also paid covert charges which were an extortion, and what? For a show that would small time vaudeville in any town.

Fresh air might be a faint agent, judging from the way kept out of this place. Our nard destroyers never could lay down smoke screen as dense as the smoke in a night club.

Why Do They Bite?
Nobody in our party had a time, yet each will go back and his or her circle of smart home friends it was an experience remembered to be repeated.

From appearances nobody a of the other tables was getting genuine fun out of the proceed. There were a few celebrities sort, displaying themselves at of the tables.

Probably there because the way reporters drop in during night and jot down notes—"L. La Lumbagoski holding hands Bud Tomatoscan, the dog soap at the Frolic Bizarre, the parchesi-board maker took a on what arose at what night when and why?"

Good Night, Clubs
Plenty of years are shed over shrinkage of some of New York boasted institutions, but the night club has relatively few mers.

With a couple of exceptions Broadway sector—establishments where a surprisingly intelligent management learned a lesson the widespread revolt of the "ers"—the club fail to maintain steady, all-season draw.

Not and then you hear the possibly "wise" crowd talking some new place. It gets a big for a few months, then, loses its limited appeal, some so-called hot spot has a biling.

It's no stretch of the memory recall when a dozen or so could retain their popularity at same time. Can you sympathize the operators, who groan because the sucker list has been sold so that now it won't respond to bull ballyhoo?

PRESIDENTS ARE MADE BY POLITICIANS

Coming Conventions in Chicago Will Be No Exception

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

(Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.) Washington—From the days of Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton down to the present, political bosses have played a major part in the making of presidents. Pending events at Chicago this month will have no exception.

Convention delegates may vote, cheer and stage wild parties around the convention hall—but the decisions upon which they act usually are made in advance at quiet conferences between the men who pull the strings from behind the scenes. It has been estimated that 1,000 of the 1,154 delegates to the Democratic convention this year will be controlled by 25 or 30 men. Such bosses reign supreme in most large American cities today and quite a few of them will control full state delegations at Chicago.

They usually are the men who nominate candidates for the presidency. If enough of them decide to block an aspirant, he stays blocked—and a man satisfactory to the bosses gets the prize.

As a group the bosses have national politics so well under their control that it is ridiculous to suggest that the voters have anything to do with choosing the party national candidates.

The Republican bosses will have little to do this year except to go through certain formalities, such as the renomination of President Hoover, and write a prohibition plank which probably will be framed in advance.

Some of the most powerful Democratic leaders, however, are opposed to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, and they hope they can get enough help from other powerful bosses whose position is as yet uncertain to keep Roosevelt from the nomination and to nominate their own choice.

The really potent figures at the Democratic convention will be the candidates themselves. It is accepted, for instance, that Roosevelt, with 500 or 600 delegates, will be able to have a very loud voice in picking the nominee in case he shouldn't be nominated. And Smith, with perhaps a couple of hundred more, also will have a say. Speaker Jack Garner with 90 or more delegates and various favorite sons, some of whom can control their state delegations to the finish, might also be influential.

The local boss who is expected to have the largest group of delegates under his hand is John F. Curry, a white-haired, beyond-middle-age man who plays an excellent game of bridge, will have the 94 votes of New York and thus far he is the only one who knows what he is going to do with them.

Mr. Curry, who has working arrangements with some upstate New York machine leaders, announced confidently that the 94 would be voted under the unit rule. There are Roosevelt delegates in the group, but apparently they won't be able to help themselves. The unit rule, often imposed by state conventions, requires delivery of the whole delegation as a unit to the designated candidate.

The strongest boss in the anti-Roosevelt group is Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, who will deliver New Jersey's 32 for Smith and connive as he never did before to destroy Roosevelt at the convention.

Beside such men as Hague, National Chairman John H. Raskob and Executive Chairman Shouse will be of little effect except as they may use personal influence and persuasion, although they also are counted anti-Roosevelt.

Hague is a machine boss in the strictest sense. He also is a Democratic national committeeman and takes a very active interest in national conventions. He is amiable, affable, well-tailored and two-tisted. They call him the "Prince of Wales of Jersey City."

His ambition is to help elect a Democratic president, for Republicans still have all the federal patronage in New Jersey as elsewhere. Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago, the former Bohemian immigrant lad who hates to be called "Tony" by any but his very best friends, probably will control the 58 votes of Illinois. They are pledged to Senator J. H. Hanley, but not to Mr. Cermak.

When the state Democratic chairman recently said most of them were for Roosevelt, Cermak up and told him that he was mistaken—that their second choice was Melvin A. Traylor. It appears that the mayor is not well disposed toward Roosevelt and has some kind of an arrangement with the other "stop-Roosevelt" bosses.

Tom Pendergast of Kansas City has developed lately as the undisputed Democratic boss of Missouri and will control 35 delegates which are loosely pledged to ex-Senator Jim Reed.

He is said to be hard-boiled and extremely practical. Some of the Roosevelt people think that he will come across for their man, but definite information is lacking.

There are other states where political power centers in one man and many others where it appears divided.

Flapper Fanny Says

When an artist finishes a drawing, he often has a drawn face.

ed among a number of Democratic bosses or leaders.

Former Governor James M. Cox probably will direct most of the Ohio delegation. Senator Robinson of Arkansas and Governors Byrd of Virginia and Ritchie of Maryland presumably will control their delegations.

Roosevelt has many state bosses in his ranks, but they don't yet include many of the machine leaders in the largest states. Joe Guffey of Pittsburgh, whose political influence was supposed to have been slipping, appears to have made good his boast that 66 of Pennsylvania's 76 delegates would be for Roosevelt. Senator Huey Long, undisputed boss of Louisiana, has promised the state's uninstructed 20 for Roosevelt. The southern leaders, such as the famous Boss Ed Crump of Tennessee, have generally lined up for the governor.

Among the Republican leaders you might say that the boss with the greatest theoretical delegate strength was Walter F. Brown of Ohio. Mr. Brown, being postmaster general, is boss of the federal pie counter. The Republican politicians of the south subsist largely on federal patronage, so that there are always 250 or more southern delegates, many of them negroes, as are several of the state bosses, ready for delivery to the federal machine.

Brown also is a political power in Ohio and one of President Hoover's ablest and closest political advisers. Charles D. Hilles, who managed Taft's 1912 campaign, is still Republican boss in New York. After his opposition to Hoover's nomination in 1928 he was widely considered to be on the skids. But Hilles is supposed to be a representative of Wall Street in the organization and he remains on top of the heap, apparently as important in Republican councils as ever.

Dave Mulvane, national committeeman from Kansas, is another old-line leader who always is a man of influence at Republican meetings. He is an astute politician and sometimes lately has been spoken of as the next national party chairman.

And J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut still holds iron sway over the Republicans of his state. His is one of the most conspicuous examples of single-handed bossism of the traditional type.

The most widely known Republican big city boss who still remains in power is undoubtedly William S. Vare of Philadelphia, who was kicked out of the Senate a few years ago because too much money was spent to nominate and elect him. His political eclipse has often been predicted or announced in the last few years, but his mighty machine seems as firmly entrenched as anybody's and Vare remains at the head of it.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID had such a wonderful record of quick ending even piles of long standing, that Schlitz Bros. says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back. Adv.

Societies To Convene At New London

A DISTRICT meeting of Women's Missionary societies of the Methodist church will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Methodist church, New London. Several Appleton women will attend. Cars will leave the local church at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and will return in time for the picnic which will be held at 4 o'clock that afternoon at Pierce park. Lunch will be served at New London.

The Mother Goose convention, the children's program at Memorial Presbyterian church, was held Sunday morning at the time of the regular service at the church, with members of the primary, beginning and junior classes taking part. Evangeline Wierick had charge of the program, and decorations were arranged by Constance Garrison, Doris Everson, and George Ballard.

The Sunday school picnic will be held next Saturday at Pierce park. The children will meet at 2 o'clock at the church. Games, stunts, and races will be included on the program. The sport council will meet Monday night at the church to make plans for the picnic.

Promotion exercises were held in the Methodist Sunday School at 9:45 Sunday morning. The Junior choir sang, the beginners gave a pantomime, and Dr. J. A. Holmes spoke. Bibles were awarded to the graduating primary group. Sixteen probationers were received as members of the church at the 11 o'clock service, which was devoted to a children's day program.

Mrs. Louise Heller, 302 N. Rankin, will entertain Ladies Aid society of Memorial Presbyterian church at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at her home. A social hour will follow the business meeting and a lunch will be served. The committee in charge of the meeting includes captains of the circles, Mrs. E. F. Mielke, Mrs. Glen Peltan, Mrs. George Catlin, and Mrs. C. E. Rollinson.

Zion Lutheran Brotherhood of Zion Lutheran church will meet at 7:45 Tuesday night at the parish school assembly hall. The social committee includes Arthur Ecker, chairman; George Butth, Herman Ecker, and William Egert. During the summer there will be but one meeting a month on the first Tuesday.

Twenty-six members of Baptist Young People's Union of First Baptist church attended the sunset service and vespers roared Sunday night at High Cliff. Robert Eads was in charge of the service, and Philip Johnson and Evelyn Stallman had charge of the lunch. Songs and prayer were features.

Ten young people from All Saints Episcopal church went to Fond du Lac Saturday afternoon to attend a picnic given by young people of the Cathedral there. A dance was held in the parish hall in the evening.

Ladies Aid society of St. Joseph church will meet at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at the parish hall. There will be no social hour because of the octave of prayer which is being observed this week.

A regular meeting of Sacred Heart society of Sacred Heart church was held Sunday afternoon at the parish hall. Fourteen members were present.

All women of Zion Lutheran church are invited to attend a meeting in Zion Parish auditorium Tuesday afternoon. Preparations for the school festival to be held June 19 at Pierce park will be made.

St. Joseph Benevolent society will meet at 7:30 Monday night at St. Joseph hall. This is the regular monthly meeting.

Rumpf Is Delegate Of U. C. T.

C. G. RUMPF, Appleton, was elected national delegate to the United Commercial Travelers national convention which will be held June 28 to July 1 at Columbus, Ohio, at the state convention of the lodge last week at Wisconsin Rapids. He was also appointed jurisdiction director for teamwork and business for Wisconsin.

Mrs. L. E. Pease, Appleton, was elected grand sentinel of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Wisconsin, and F. R. Finn, Appleton, was appointed grand chaplain of the men. Fond du Lac was chosen as the convention city for 1933. Mrs. C. G. Rumpf, also of Appleton, was named installing officer for the grand Ladies' Auxiliary when it convenes next year in Fond du Lac.

Appleton Council was again given custody of the grand charter and awarded a silk flag and a silver loving cup for having the largest percentage of increase in membership in the state.

The banquet and entertainment was held Friday night at the Wisconsin Rapids armory. Those who attended from Appleton were John Rydell, Mr. and Mrs. George Butth, Jr. and Mrs. L. E. Pease, F. R. Finn, Mrs. L. H. Everlein, W. L. Lyons, C. G. Rumpf, and George Murphy, the latter of Neenah but a member of Appleton council.

Twenty-four Appleton people attended the meeting of District No. 19, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Saturday night at Kaukauna. About 95 members were present from Menasha, Stockbridge, Kaukauna, Appleton, and two lodges of Oshkosh.

The first degree was exemplified by the Appleton degree team, and general business was transacted. John B. Chase, Oconto, deputy grand master, was an honored guest. The next district meeting will be sometime in September in Stockbridge.

A musical program will be given at the meeting of the Lutheran University club at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. T. Ziegler, 337 E. Pacific. Mrs. L. Ziegler, 337 E. Pacific, will speak and Mrs. Herbert Schultz and Mrs. J. Kleinschmidt, also of Oshkosh, will be guests.

Rebekah Three Links club will meet at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Blake, 403 E. So. River-st, for a picnic. The afternoon will be spent informally.

MISS RICKER, C. STEINER TO MARRY TODAY

Miss Mary E. Ricker, daughter of Mrs. Mary Ricker, 215 Memorial-dr., and Carlton C. Steiner, son of Dr. and Mrs. William Steiner, 312 N. Weimar-st, will be married at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon in the John McNaughton room of First Methodist church. The Rev. J. A. Holmes will perform the ceremony. Mrs. Alva Patten, Neenah, will be matron of honor, and William Ricker, brother of the bride, will be best man. A wedding dinner will be served to the immediate families at the home of the bride's mother, after which the couple will leave on a wedding trip. On their return, they will reside in their new home at Lake Winnebago.

STEAK FRY FOR FRATERNITY AT FARLEY'S HOME

Active members and pledges of Beta Sigma Phi, Lawrence college social fraternity, were entertained at a steak fry at the river home of Dr. J. H. Farley by faculty members of the group Sunday noon. About 40 persons attended. Steak was broiled over a charcoal fire, and dinner was served outdoors. Baseball provided entertainment. Faculty members of the fraternity who entertained are: Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Farley, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Denyes, Prof. and Mrs. Frank Clippinger, Dr. William Crow, and Prof. and Mrs. W. T. Rogers.

GARDEN PARTY IS PLANNED LATE IN JUNE

A garden party will be given by The King's Daughters June 21 at the P. J. Sensenbrenner home, Neenah. The party will take place from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 7 o'clock in the evening in order to give the men an opportunity to attend. The garden will be in full bloom then and will be a lovely setting for the event. A tour of the grounds will be a feature, and tea will be served. In case of rain, the party will be held the first clear day after that date.

Tickets for the party may be secured from any member of The King's Daughters. Mrs. P. A. Paulson is chairman of the committee in charge.

Tell Child About Best Life Habits

BY ANGELO PATRI
"O, dear, I wish I could press a button and see myself running around getting all my chores done, and doing my lessons, and all the mean things I have to do every day. That's what I wish."

We'd all like that. Children like this nine year old boy are not alone in such wishing. And we have been provided with just that equipment. Each of us can press a button in our minds and see ourselves working without direction of consciousness, if we train the machinery for the job. I mean if you form a habit it will carry you along so you will not have to worry about it at all.

Getting up in the morning, for example. If you train yourself to waken at a certain time each day, your body will take over the job and on the tick of the clock your eyes will fly open and up you get. The habit will make you so uncomfortable if you delay that you will be glad to be up.

Eating on schedule is another habit. Train yourself and the children to eat certain foods, at certain times of each day, and the habit will soon attend to the appetite part at least, and that in turn will force you to get ready and eat.

Saving means time saving, energy saving means that the mind has found. Walking and talking and chewing and such things are habits that you trained into your body so well that they now take care of themselves. There are many more useful habits that can be trained into children so as to set their minds free for higher work. The more of these habits a child has the greater power he has at his disposal for the problems of his existence. If he has to stop and think how to do simple things, if he has to consider where to place his foot and how, he cannot walk very far, can he?

We talk a great deal about forming habits but we do not do half enough about it. We ought to begin early to train, children to form useful habits of everyday living. It takes a lot of time and patience. The introduction of the habit must be cannily made. The first experience is all important. Do you remember how Mrs. Wesley prepared her two boys for the first lesson in reading? She told them something wonderful was to happen tomorrow. She dressed them in their best clothes. She emphasized the importance and the beauty of this first step in learning so that the boys learned the whole alphabet in one day, and enjoyed it. The reading habit has been launched with great power.

It is possible to launch any good habit with power, if we try. Then we have to be consistent about it and keep steadily at it. We go through the performance every day at the same time without a break. We talk about the good work and we lose no chance of having the child practice the new accomplishments. We supply an audience and loud cheers for every victory. And we keep at it everlastingly.

A good habit, a number of good habits, are a child's richest resources in times of trouble. Each of them frees his mind from a bit of care and leaves it so much the freer for its work. Each good habit is a bulwark against temptation for the mind to work in its old paths every time. How many good habits can each of your children count his own?

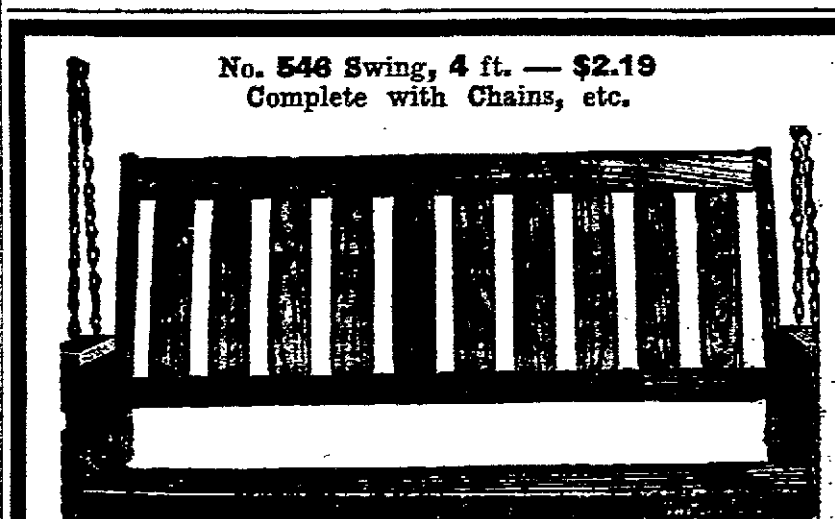

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamp, addressed envelope for reply.

MISS STOLZMAN BECOMES BRIDE ON WEDNESDAY

The marriage of Miss Norma Stolzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stolzman, Greenville, to Clarence Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Schroeder, Greenville, will take place at 7:30 Wednesday evening at Greenville Lutheran church. THE STORY OF SUE
By Margery Hale

"THE bet?" Natalie Webber smiled again, as she repeated the words. "Oh, Jimmy said you would insist that he should stick by the boat and let the other women go. That you wouldn't allow anyone else in the general scheme and so forth. I said that you would hold out for fair play. Goodbye, my dear! I'm so glad that you side with me."

When she had gone Sue sat staring at the door. Then she stood up and opened it and banged it again. Hard.

"There! That's what I'd like to do to her. She isn't going to think that Jimmy is tied in Grace's back yard, and has come straying into hers. She is going to know that he is free to wander. He wants to. Grace's pride is at work. I'll have a penny and Grace will show Jimmy a thing or two. Of course he's going to stick with her. He'll come through. No, maybe he won't. But if he doesn't then Grace may be hurt but she'll get better. Sometimes I don't think Jimmy ever really loved Grace. She was near . . . and he was lonesome. She sympathized. And you know the rest."

"Then you think that his heart is doing the real work for this webber woman?" Ruth asked.

"No. It's infatuation. Jimmy didn't grow up soon enough. He doesn't know it. But maybe he will really fall in love with Grace now if she plays her cards right. Only I don't think Mrs. Webber is philanthropic. I wish she were."

"I know," Ruth nodded. "I have a hunch that she means it, too. It will be hard on Grace."

The telephone rang softly. Just a whirr of a sound in the quiet room. Sue reached for it.

"Yes?" she asked. Then: "Oh, yes, Mr. Page. Tomorrow morning at the usual time?" There was a silence. "Oh, I see. Certainly. That will be fine."

Some more idle words. Then she hung up.

"Arnold Page is taking an office down town for a few weeks. He says we can work better there. He won't be disturbed. He really means that his sister won't have a chance to snub me. But it won't be for long. Only . . . I shouldn't let him do that. I hate to be indebted to people. He said that the office was vacant anyway, and that he owns the building. So I'm not really inconveniencing him much. He might have taken it anyway."

"Of course," Ruth was watching the blend of the freight on the street. "I couldn't find a job."

"But you will!"

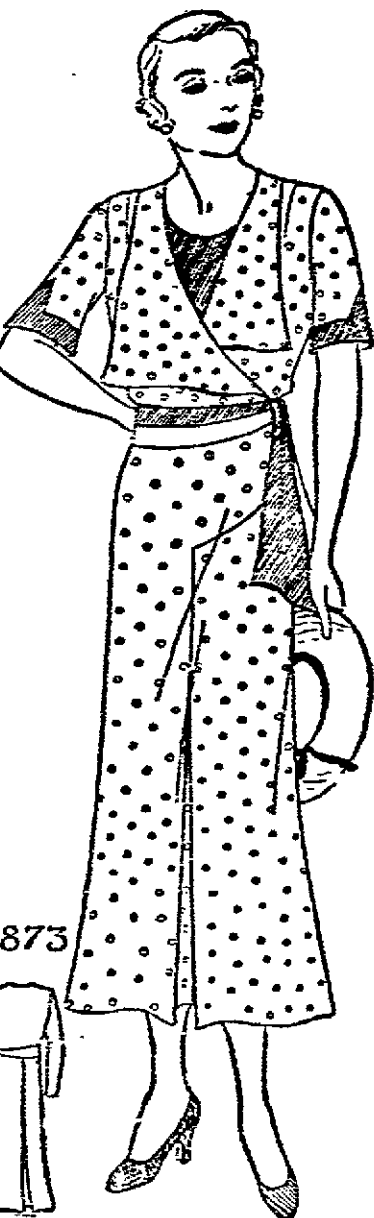

"No. I won't. Not unless one falls out of the sky and manna stopped coming as regularly as the milk man long ago." She turned on the radio. Found a song that drifted on careless love across a mountain. Dialed on to another station. Found one that broke its heart with something that wasn't careless. Tried again. Then turned it off.

"What are these things else in the world?" she asked. She was still wondering about it when she started across the street to meet Sally that night.

Sally was waiting in the shadow of a tree.

Uneven Revers

Here's something charming and chic for you—and kindly too if you're inclined to overweight. You see the revers disagree as to size and length, which has a tendency to diminish bulk. Inverted plaits at the center-front and the center-back adds slenderness, creating height to the figure. A navy blue and white dotted crepe silk with plain blue trim made the original. Style No. 2873 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 1 yard of 35-inch contrasting. Plain crepe in navy blue or black with white trim will make a nice dressier scheme for the heavier woman.

KICKING GOOD EXERCISE FOR YOUR SYSTEM
BY ALICIA HART

Getting the old system toned up for enjoying the summer? Morning exercises are indispensable!

Two excellent exercises for stirring up a sluggish digestive system are the bicycle exercise and the back kick.

To do the bicycle, you must be flat on the floor. Don't do it until you have limbered up a little bit for it is strenuous.

Hold your arms down at your sides, stretch out flat on the floor, raise both legs in the air and begin to pedal as you would if you were actually riding a bicycle.

There are two types of bicycle exercises, the plain variety and the high bicycle. This latter is done by raising your body clear up from the floor, resting your weight on your shoulders, and it is anything but easy until you get your balance and get worked up to it. Better begin on the easy one. It will tire you out soon enough. Start gently. Simply move both legs in circles about 10 minutes, and slowly. It is the motion, not the speed which helps, so take it easy.

The back kick is done standing up. Place a straight chair and standing behind it, place both hands on its back. Hold one leg rigid. Then as you throw your head back kick your other leg up, just as if you felt sure you could actually kick the back of your head. You won't, don't worry about it. You'll come a long way from it. But the exercise is excellent.

Be sure to fill in the size of the pattern. Send stamps or coin (coin preferred). Price of book 10 cents. Price of pattern 15 cents.

WE WOMEN
By Virginia Vane

SWEET SEVENTEEN MUST HAVE TIME TO GROW UP

Dear Virginia Vane: I am seventeen and have fallen in love with a man ten years my senior. He is a fine young man but my parents seem to be against him mainly because he doesn't like any of my young friends and is always trying to get me away from them. Indeed he likes much older people and wants to go to plays or bridge parties or things like that—acting bored with the kind of evening which pleases me. I don't know which way to turn. I don't want to lose him but I certainly hate to go against my parents. They keep saying they think I ought to have a good time while I'm young, and not grow old too quickly. Give me some advice. AGNES.

Perhaps your parents understand you better than you think and realize that in settling down to adapt yourself to a man ten years older than yourself—you're inviting much unhappiness.

At seventeen you can't be quite sure that you're really in love. The chances are that this beau is the first one of any importance at all. And the fact that he is so much older gives him an added glamor. There's a good deal of prestige attached to the conquest of a man in his twenties when one is just sweet seventeen.

If you wait a while before making up your mind about this man—if you go ahead with your life, keeping your young friends and enjoying such good times as come your way—you'll have a better chance to judge of your true feelings in two or three years' time.

You may protest that none of your friends means as much to you as does your true love. But you can't make a definite decision about that yet. It's after marriage that young girls begin to figure out how much fun they've missed and how foolish they were to believe that settling down would make them happier than anything else in the world.

Compromise with your parents. Go on seeing the man you love but explain to him that you're not old enough to consider marriage seriously—and that in the meantime you want to keep your friends and enjoy life normally. If he loves you he'll wait for you and you'll be far happier and more sure of yourself when you've given the whole thing a good test.

If you simply fall in with his ways—cutting out your own friendships and trying to give up your own ideas of a good time—you won't be playing fair with him. You'll be trying to make yourself into something you're not. You can't grow up overnight and it's useless to try.

Choice Up To Girl

DOUBTFUL: If it is going to cause you a good deal of pain to try to remain on the friendly basis your erstwhile sweetheart suggests—then cut him out altogether. He must have suffered some change of heart to evince so many doubts and fears about your feelings for each other.

He has in fact said as plainly as possible that he isn't willing to be too serious and if you aren't prepared to accept him on the new basis, it would be better to get along without him. You must suit yourself about this. There is a chance of course that if you continue to be friendly with him he may grow fond of you again—but don't sacrifice all your peace of mind for this chance. Far better to get along without him entirely than to waste a lot of your youth on a forlorn hope. (Copyright 1932, by the Associated Newspapers.)

LIGHTS FOR PILOTS

Washington — The Aeronautics branch of the U. S. Department of Commerce reports there are about 2,000 aeronautical beacon lights now operating throughout the country as aids to airmen flying across the country at night. About 2,000 of these have been established and are maintained by the Federal aid ways system. The remainder are sponsored by airports and commercial organizations.

A BOOK A DAY
BY BRUCE CATTON

PUZZLED ABOUT SCIENCE

Ever since the first of all scientists came down from the mountains and started talking in four-bit words, the ordinary citizen has been storing up a lot of questions that he would like to ask if he could only get the scientists to listen to him.

Usually he has to keep still, for scientists aren't always good listeners. But relief has come, at last, in the form of "Riddles of Science," a fat book in which Sir J. Arthur Thompson discusses about all of the questions (foolish and otherwise) which have been bothering us uneducated laymen.

To be sure, not all of the questions are given definite answers. Yet that only indicates that the author knows his science—for science is a lot less cocksure about things than we often suppose. In many cases it has to admit, "We don't really know," and the writer of this book hasn't been afraid to make that admission wherever necessary.

The questions discussed cover a wide range. How did life begin? What, for that matter, is life? Is evolution still going on? What is sex, and why? What are those hormones and chromosomes we hear so much about?

Then there are the riddles of natural history, why a cat's fur stands up when a dog appears, how migrating birds find their way, what instinct is and how it works, and so on. And, just to show that he can be broadminded, Sir Arthur winds up by touching on such problems as telepathy, crystal-gazing, clairvoyance and the like.

All in all, it's an entertaining book. It is published by Liveright, and sells for $3.50.

AT SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT HEADQUARTERS

It's the QUALITY in SWP that makes it a money-saving House Paint

Anyone who knows paint knows that a "quality" house paint is always the least expensive on the house, regardless of the price per gallon. It's the quality of the materials and the manufacturing that make it economical.

SWP House Paint leads the world in this money-saving quality. It is not an ordinary "assembled" paint made of nondescript materials. Sherwin-Williams safeguards the quality and dependability of every ingredient used in SWP by either making it complete in S-W factories, or by making it pass strict laboratory inspection. The white lead, zinc, linseed oil and colors used in SWP are the very best that Science can give us. Then, SWP is ground to superlative fineness. That is why it produces such a close knit film—hides the surface so much better—covers so much more surface than paints not ground as finely—and is so much easier to apply. Painters are easily able to save as much as 10% in labor cost with SWP.

These qualities have distinguished SWP House Paint as a Money-Saver for over 65 years. Let us prove how economically you can paint your house with it. We will also recommend a good painter.

DAYLIE BEFORE CROWD OF 1,500

Score 3 and 2; Each Team
Gets Six Hits; Keno
Star Whiffs 10

TOMMY RYAN was all hot and bothered yesterday morning—hot because the weather was hot and bothered because his Pond All Stars were trimming the Kenosha Owls, who lay claim to the national softball title, by a score of 3 and 2. And there was an immense crowd of about 1,500 on hand and of course that had Tommy excited, too.

The game had all kinds of color and the fans enjoyed it. The Stars were all decked out in their baby blue shirts and white trousers with the name of their club across the front, and wore baby blue caps. The Owls wore purple and gold shirts and a gray flannel trouser which with all the blues and whites and yellows and what not in the stands made the gathering an exceedingly colorful one.

Both clubs played fast, snappy ball and hustled the game along. The invaders differed with Joe Shields on the ball and strike decisions a couple times and brought boos from the crowd but all in good natured fun. The Kenosha club ap-

Kenno Hurler Draws Applause

Vic Smith, a one armed pitcher was the Owl the fans watched most. Despite his handicap he served up an assortment of fast and slow balls that brought him 10 strikeouts. He was wild, however, and walked seven batters. Only once did he have to field his position and on that occasion turned in a neat stop and tossed the run out as the fans applauded. Smith also drew applause in generous quantities every time he stepped to the rubber.

Smith's battery mate was an elongated "Slim Summerville" answayed to the name of Dargatzis and he batted hard for every advantage his club might get. He kicked on balls and strikes all morning and on everything else, but when the fans boomed him he just grinned.

Emmett Mortell was on the mound for Appleton and allowed six blows, the same number that rattled off Smith's delivery. He whiffed six batters and didn't walk a one. Mortell also was the recipient of plenty applause when he stepped to the rubber.

Score In First. Second Appleton started the game impressively when Rule doubled, Refka walked and both scored on Priebe's double to left field. Although three men occupied the sacks the remainder of the frame Smith whiffed Kranzusch. Heiss and Bowlby retired the side.

In the second frame Mortell strolled with one away and moved to second when Rule walked. Mortell then scored on Refke's hit to right. Kranzusch fled out to end the inning with the sacks again loaded.

Thereafter Appleton threatened regularly but failed to get a single run and in the last three frames didn't get a hit. In the sixth inning Foster, Pree and Kranzusch batted in regular order to retire the side.

Mortell was in trouble once during the session and gave two runs on three hits. Rumelfinger, first at the rubber, tripped and galloped home when the ball thrown to third hit him in the back and bounded away from Rule. Kraft fled to short and then Wendorf smacked a homer and the Owls were all through scoring.

Saturday afternoon the Owls met and defeated a Sheboygan team by a score of 8 and 3.

YANKS TROUNCE BOSTON; BRAVES HUMBLE GIANTS

Eastern A. L. Teams Begin Second Invasion of Western Stronghold

BY HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Staff Writer

The forthcoming invasion of the west by the powerful eastern teams will furnish the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians a chance to demonstrate just how seriously they must be considered in the current American league pennant chase.

These two clubs alone seem equipped to offer adequate opposition to the three eastern contenders, the New York Yankees, Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics.

As the race stands now the Tigers and Indians are being hardpressed to prevent the east from occupying the first three places in the standings. The Yankees, of course, hold a five-game lead with Washington second and Detroit, Philadelphia and Cleveland trailing at half game intervals.

Babe Gets No. 16
The Yankees, in their last game before leaving for the west, trounced the Red Sox yesterday, 12-1 as Babe Ruth contributed his sixteenth homer of the season and Ben Chapman and Bill Dickey also hit for the circuit.

The Athletics walloped Washington, 11-7 although out of the first place. The Senators missed the scoring punch of Joe Cronin and Heinie Manush, both on the sidelines with injuries. Jimmy Fox clouted his twenty-first homer. Detroit counted six runs in the eighth to trip Cleveland, 10-9. Wes Ferrell getting in the Indians' box just in time to be charged with the defeat.

In the National league, the Boston Braves went into a virtual tie with the idle Chicago Cubs by winning two games from the New York Giants, 6-5 and 7-6. Art Shires' tenth inning double scored Worthington with the winning run in the opener. Bobby Brown's excellent relief pitching saved the second game. Manager Bill Terry of the Giants suffered a leg injury early in the second game and had to retire.

Cards Move To Fourth
The St. Louis Cardinals moved in to fourth place with 2-2 victories in both ends of a double header with the Cincinnati Reds. Paul Derringer and Dizzy Dean went the route in each game for the champions. The Phillies vacated the cellar in favor of the Giants by scoring five runs in the ninth and beat Brooklyn, 7-6. Van Mungo allowed only five hits but walked 11 and had to be relieved with one out in the ninth. Jack Quinn and Bill Clark failed to stop the Phils' rally.

MILLERS LEADING A. A. BY TWO GAMES

Brewers Divide Sunday Bill With Saints; Hens Win Seventh

Chicago—(AP)—Donie Bush, who wore a troubled look all last season as he vainly attempted to keep the Chicago White Sox out of the American league basement, is riding the managerial crest in the American association.

Donie, always rated as a great minor league boss, had his Minneapolis Millers out in front in the battle for the American association pennant by three full games over the second place Indianapolis Indians and was sitting on top of the world.

A double victory over Kansas City yesterday as Indianapolis took two of the clinch sent the Millers out to the widest lead in weeks. They dropped the Blues, 12 to 7, in the first game and then added the nightcap, 7 to 5, after 10 innings.

Columbus dashed Indianapolis' hopes and added the Millers. The Red Birds won the first game, 3 to 2 and followed through to win the second, 8 to 5. Crawford hit two home runs in the second game to tie the Hauser of Minneapolis for the circuit smacking lead at 11 each.

Toledo continued to play good baseball and ran its record to seven victories in the last 10 games by taking a doubleheader from Louisville, 9 to 4 and 7 to 3. The twin victories showed the Hens within a game and one-half from the sixth place Colonels.

St. Paul and Milwaukee found themselves just where they started after two games. The Brewers captured the opener, 6 to 5, but St. Paul came back to take the second, 7 to 5.

QUALIFY FOR OPEN GOLF TOURNEY TODAY

New York—(AP)—Out of the nation-wide sectional qualifying rounds played today in 20 widely scattered districts will emerge 116 qualifiers to compete the field of 150 for the national open golf championship to be played at the Fresh Meadow club, Flushing, Long Island, June 23, 24 and 25.

Exemptions were granted to two foreign players, Jose Jurado of Argentina and Tomochichi Miyamoto of Japan; Tommy Armour of Detroit, who began defense of his British open at Sandwich today; and the 31 low scorers in the 1931 national open.

Among these latter were Billy Burke, George von Elm, Leo Diegel, Bill Mehlhorn, Willy Cox, Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Frank Walsh.

KAUKAUNA NINE IN 4 TO 3 WIN OVER SHAWANO

Indians Throw Bad Scare Into Electric City Ball Team

Kaukauna—Shawano threw a bad scare into the Electric City nine here Sunday afternoon when they outthrew the Kaws in a Fox River valley league game, but the Indians weakened in the fourth inning to allow the Kaws two runs, paving the way for a 4 to 3 victory for the Electric City team. The 'Kaws' hoisted the 1931 pennant won in Fox River Valley league competition. Talks were given by C. O. East, president of the Fox River Valley league, Mayor B. W. Fargo, and John D. Lawe, Kaukauna's oldest baseball fan.

Kaukauna started the scoring in the first inning when Les Smith singled to short center after Vils had fanned and Phillips had flied out. Richard "Red" Smith, who has become a menace to league pitchers, cracked a hard double into center field to score his team mate. Wenzel hit a slow roller to the first baseman, and the putout was made from the first baseman to the pitcher, Ruben, who covered the initial sack on the play.

In the third inning Fortin walked Schrader, Shawano right fielder, to start the frame. Schrader stole second and scored on Hull's double. Hull, however, was caught while trying to stretch the double to a triple. Waukechon doubled, A. Reed flied out to Zelinski, and Ruben grounded out from Fortin to Smith.

Smith Hits Homer
Les Smith swatted one over the right field wall in the third inning to tie the score. The bases were empty when Smith scored the ace.

Evidently inspired by the four bagger of Smith's, the Kaws started a determined rally in the fourth frame. Wenzel started with a short fly to B. Reed at shortstop. Lamers' singled, Zelinski duplicated Lamers' feat, and Van Drasek was safe when a smotherman juggled his slow grounder. With the sacks loaded, Fortin hit a hard drive into left field. The ball finally rolled outside the park.

Umpire ruled the hit a double instead of a home run, and Van Drasek was sent back to left, Lamers and Zelinski scoring. Vils hit a long fly into right field where it was taken by Schrader, and Phillips batted out from Davis to Reed.

In the fifth, Waukechon fanned to start. A. Reed went out on a grounder to Zelinski to Smith, but B. Reed doubled into left field. Reed was followed by a single, scoring Reed, but Davis rolled out, Fortin to Smith, to end the short rally.

Both pitchers settled down to a tight defense, Ruben allowing no hits after the fourth inning, while Fortin allowed two of the scratch variety. Fortin struck out six men in the last five innings, fanning three in the seventh.

PLANTS SEVEN ACRES FOR EMERGENCY CROP

BY W. F. WINSEY

Hortonville—To be on the safe side after the present month when Timothy and June grass pasture is apt to disappear, Edward Steinberg, route 2, is planting seven acres of Sudan grass.

For hay he has five acres of good alfalfa and two acres of a rather poor stand; and 11 acres of timothy. He is planting 20 acres of corn. His small grain is thrifty and very promising.

As he is milking 12 cows, his crops of hay and pasture will be equal to his requirements for the coming year.

FALL PLANTING OF SWEET CLOVER NOW FURNISHES PASTURE

Foresight of Hortonville Farmer Proves to Be Valuable

BY W. F. WINSEY

Hortonville—The animals in the dairy herd of L. A. Baehman, route 2, are being pastured in a fine growth of sweet clover. The improvement in the pasture conditions on the Baehman farm was started last summer during the pasture and hay shortage brought on by the drought.

With a shortage of pasture in sight Mr. Baehman thought it would be a good plan for him to sow a bushel of sweet clover seed in his four acres of late canning peas. The drought killed his peas but the sweet clover showed up after the fall rains in a very satisfactory stand.

The sweet clover weathered the winter and spring frosts and is now supplying pasture to his herd of 17 animals. Last fall he also seeded three acres of sweet clover with a nurse crop of rye.

He used the rye as his earliest pasture crop this spring and got a big supply of feed, and he expects to pasture the sweet clover the coming fall.

This is the first that Mr. Baehman has experimented with rye and sweet clover pasture. On 30 acres of June grass, timothy and swamp pasture with only clumps and spears here and there, a neighboring herd is working throughout the day but is not getting a quarter of the feed that Mr. Baehman's herd is getting in his four acres of sweet clover.

Mr. Baehman expects to plant three and one-half acres of potatoes, and two acres of cabbage. His cabbage plants are in good condition. He has planted 15 acres of corn.

Songs, Four girls. Recitations, D. Kobs and Marie Scheller. Class song, "And Now the Parting Hour has Come." Distribution of diplomas, Rev. P. T. Oehlert. Prayer and hymn.

You Can't Marry

by Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: "I'm going away for a year," Eddie Townsend tells his wife, Georgie. She insists upon keeping her position, although she must pretend she is not married, and that her cousin Jenny is Mrs. Townsend. Jenny makes friends with Gratton Matching, Georgie's eccentric old employer.

Chapter 52

A SOUND INVESTMENT

BECAUSE—"Eddie's voice was gruff as he answered Jenny's question—"She only wants what she wants."

"But I expect she is thinking just that of you," ventured Jenny. "And I'm much the same, Eddie—everybody wants their own kind of happiness, really. Oh, I can't bear you and Georgie to be unhappy!"

She looked up at him, troubled by the trouble in his eyes. To her surprise he stooped and kissed her.

"Good kid!" he said. "You didn't mind my doing that, did you? I sometimes wish—" He checked himself, grinned and for the second time ordered her to run home. "You look like an ornament of a Christmas tree in that silver frock. Pretty enough to make anyone want to kiss you."

She turned obediently away. The car had disappeared but she had only a little way to walk.

This was the hour she loved, the very edge of the night. Flitting through the heavy shadows between the street-lights, her pale skirts gleaming and dulling by turns, she knew that men's heads turned to watch her go. Even old Gratton Matching had said it—"a pretty thing in all that silver." And in Garth Aveney's eyes she had seen that she was lovely, even though for her loveliness he had nothing but a sneer.

She forgot Eddie and the wonder why he should be going back to Mrs. Bigger's alone and with such troubled eyes. Tomorrow she would think about him again and if he and Georgie would let her, she would go on curing him. She felt absolutely certain that she would cure him, in the end. But tonight she must speak to Georgie and Georgie must answer her—and for once they would be talking about Jenny Revell, a grown and lovely woman, and not Georgie's pretty doll.

She passed Gill in the doorway almost without seeing him, and she arrived at the door of the apartment without any recollection of climbing the stairs. It was like going up in a dream. And the quiet of the apartment was dream-like too.

"Georgie!" she called.

"Here!"

The dream-feeling broke and vanished. Georgie's voice, coming from the living room, was brisk and clear, and Georgie, strolling out into the hall, was perfectly groomed and frocked and waved a cigarette.

"I was just going on the razzle—can't stand this place when I'm alone in it," she smiled. "Come and tell me about it, honey. Heavens, to think of your having dinner with the Old Man. Life is, isn't it?"

She propelled Jenny into the living room and immediately turned on the radio. A flood of dance music welled into the room and Georgie moved in rhythm to it until she cannoned into Jenny and began to zig-zag.

Jenny quickly turned the set off.

"I think you're afraid, Georgie," she said. She had not meant to say it, but she would stand by it. "You're afraid of being alone because you've sent Eddie away."

"I suppose you met him," shrugged Georgie. "He would only tell you his side of the business, of course. Not that—"

Jenny went to her and took away the cigarette she was trying to light.

"I want you to tell me something," she said. "Not about you or Eddie at all!"

"Well!"

"May I tell Garth Aveney that it was you and not I who married Eddie on Saturday?"

Under her detaining hands, she felt Georgie start and quiver.

"Jenny, of course you mayn't! What possesses you? Why, I should lose my job there and then! Haven't you been told at Rochester Gate that the Old Man is putting him in full charge? Whatever Aveney might want to do, he wouldn't have any choice—he'd have to fire me."

"But I think I must tell him," persisted Jenny.

Georgie wrenched herself free.

"After all I've done for you? Jenny, you simply—you simply can't take my job away from me, Jenny, when it has kept you from starving, and clothed you, and sheltered you! Why, the very trick you've got on—"

"Oh?" cried Jenny, her hands pressed flat against her ears. "Oh, don't! Don't say it, Georgie, it has such an ugly sound."

For the second time that evening they stared at each other like enemies. There was a bewildered sadness in Jenny's heart and—perhaps—its echo in Georgie's. For presently her face twisted up into a trembling smile.

"Something that isn't me is using my mind and tongue tonight and it's something I loathe as much as you do," she muttered. "I don't mean anything I say and I'd like to take back everything I do. I suppose for once in my life I'm tired right out."

"Yes, you're tired," agreed Jenny, all eagerness to forgive. "It was silly of me to start a discussion like this tonight, Selish. Don't let's go out, darling, let's sleep."

Georgie said it for her.

"Let's have a cozy evening together, as we used to do. I'll brew some hot chocolate and we'll drink it in our pajamas on my bed." Lightly, she caressed Jenny's cheek.

"No, on second thoughts, you'll make the chocolate. You've elected yourself housekeeper, I hear."

"Do you mind? Eddie—that is, I thought—"

"I'm very pleased. I'll pay you the ordinary salary, of course, and you'd better take some lessons and get really good at cooking. It's always a sound investment. And I'll pay for the lessons—"

Jenny slipped into the kitchen, smiling a little wily. What a lot of Georgie cared about the money side of everything! Always it was her first comment. Of course, one had to be practical. But surely it was a mistake to emphasize it. Jenny, busy with the chocolate, had a fleeting memory of an old man with so much money that he could never spend it all. Gratton Matching—lonely, suspicious, odd.

She wondered whether she was really expected to go and see him tomorrow. She wanted to go; there was a quality about him that she could not describe. But it was something she needed. Perhaps it was pure friendship. He liked her and she him; and they were both in need of being liked.

(Copyright, Julia Cleft-Addams)

"Are you in love?" Georgie asks Jenny tomorrow, suspiciously. But she must not find out.

DODGES U. S. 7 YEARS

Houston, Tex.—Otto Hawks has found that the long arm of the law stretches considerably to clutch its prey. Seven years ago he was convicted of smuggling. Judge Hatcher son gave him a day of liberty before he was to be sentenced. He didn't show up until three years later, when he was arrested in Seattle. On the road back to Houston, he escaped his captors on the train and again disappeared. He was finally found in Baltimore, Md., and brought back for trial.

Nearly 700,000 people are now living in chain apartments erected by the municipality of Vienna, Austria.

NEW LONDON BEATS PELLA NINE, 6 TO 4

Game Goes 12 Innings Before Victor Is Determined in Little Wolf Tilt

New London—Playing at Pella Sunday afternoon in a Little Wolf league game, the local baseball team was forced to go 12 innings to take out the 4-6 Pella team. The game was a hard fought battle, with New London getting the breaks. Each pitcher had 13 strikeouts and gave three men free trips to first base. Bink was the heavy hitter for New London, getting three hits out of five attempts. Born, Pella's catcher, turned in a perfect day with the stick, getting three hits out of three trips to the plate. New London scored one run in the first and third innings, two in the sixth, and two in the seventh. Pella ran one man across in the second inning and made three runs in the eighth. These runs were secured when Konkel went out, Bink to Besett, Grimm drew a walk and after Wesge struck out Born singled, clearing Grimm in. Hoppe singled, clearing the bases, and Pevonke struck out to end the inning.

In the twelfth inning, first man up, came through with a single. After Buron and Derbach struck out, Bink walked and Edminister came in on Bink's single. Besett then drove in when he sent a hot liner which the Pella shortstop bobbled. Krohn ended the game as far as the locals were concerned by grounding out to the short stop.

Weyauvega Wins
Other results in this league show Weyauvega trimming Sugar Bush, 12-4, and Clintonville taking Bear Creek, 5-4. Weyauvega leading the league with four straight wins. New London is following with five wins and one defeat. Sugar Bush and Clintonville are tied up for third, with four wins and two losses. Bear Creek's standing is three all and Pella has won but one game and has five losses. Next week the locals can go into first place if they can bump Weyauvega.

BERRY CROP LOOKS PROMISING, REPORT

Early Crop Beginning to Ripen, New London Growers Declare

New London—The berry crop looks promising this year. Early berries are beginning to ripen and within a week home grown berries will be on the market. All patches look well at the present time and need only continued warm rain to develop an excellent crop. Among those having large fields of strawberries are John Zitske, Edward Moutso, W. V. Willard, Andrew Wauschek, Martin Abraham and Henry Reier.

As for red and black raspberries and blackberries the promise of a yield is not so good. Bushes were badly damaged during the past winter, many being entirely wiped out by heavy frosts. Fields along the county line road south of the city, known as Berry Ridge, were practically demolished and another year will have to elapse before the bushes are back in normal bearing form.

It is improbable that the berry growers cooperative association, formed some years ago, will function this year, since the organization was formed principally for the convenience of the bush berries. Most growers contract to out of town buyers who drive to the fields, thus eliminating the need of a central clearing house.

Chermes, though a small crop in this locality, also look well and those who have trees expect a good crop.

NEW LONDON SCOUTS ATTEND CAMP O' RAL

New London—With only two missing out of the entire personnel of Troop 7 of the American Legion troop of Valley scouts, the local troop attended the two-day Camp O'Ral in the city park at Clintonville Saturday and Sunday. The troop won a pennant for camp efficiency, making an excellent appearance in uniform with pup tents and the commissary tent.

Beef stew was made by Joe Kische, assistant scout master. The boys were particularly enthusiastic regarding the supper Saturday night which consisted of beef stew, potatoes and gravy, corn, bread and butter, coffee and cake. On Sunday morning the boys had hot cakes and syrup which were made over a camp fire. The boys remained for the services conducted Sunday morning, leaving the camp spik and span. Many parents were present for the hand concert and program Saturday evening.

Scouts will attend a meeting at tourist park this evening when final plans will be made for the mother and son dinner and program which will be featured on the Little Wolf river, on Wednesday evening.

MARK STREETS FOR AUTOMOBILE PARKING

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—Under the supervision of Albert Geisse, street commissioner, the streets in the business district are being marked for parking. Parking lines will follow those of other years. Streets which have become rough during the past year have been filled with tar. The street marking will continue this week.

DEFERRED TAX COLLECTIONS TOTAL $50,000

Scores Rush to Get Payments Made Before Deadline Passes

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Waupaca—Between $40,000 and $50,000 was taken in by County Treasurer L. J. Stadler Tuesday and Wednesday as tax payers rushed in to pay their property taxes before the deadline, June 1. On May 21 checks and cash were paid in by persons and some were turned away, as they could not be waited on. There remains a total of $75,000 of delinquent property which will be sold at tax sale June 14. The delinquencies include approximately 2,600 parcels of land.

Of the $75,000 made available by congress for loans to assist farmers of the United States in putting in their spring crops, 6,329 loans were applied for in the state of Wisconsin totaling $825,267. Of this Waupaca farmers made 145 applications totaling $15,264. The maximum loan which any farmer could secure from this fund was $400. The money secured was limited in its use to the purchase of seed, feed for horses, gas and oil for tractors and repair on farm machinery.

Announcement has been made by the Minneapolis office, through which all Wisconsin loans were secured, that any farmer, with a loan, may at any time pay a part or all of the loan. The interest on the amount paid passes and credit will be given for the amount of interest thus saved.

The Rev. E. T. Soper, pastor of the Waupaca Methodist church was the speaker at the Cedar Lake school district graduation exercises Thursday evening.

Miss Ann Engstrom entertained about 25 of her friends at a costume party at her home at the Grand View hotel, Chas. O. Lakes, Saturday evening. The evening was spent in playing games and refreshments were served.

LUTHERAN SOFTBALL TEAM IS DEFEATED

Special to Post-Crescent
London—Before a large crowd, the local Men's club of the Lutheran league was defeated by the Oshkosh softball entry Sunday afternoon, 3 to 1. Heilsberg, pitching for Oshkosh, struck out 14 of the local boys, while Moch fanned six of the visitors. Each side got one error. Oshkosh got seven hits off of Moch's delivery, including two homers. Klambans and Hagene were the visitors' home run artists. Heilsberg pitched scoreless ball until the ninth when Ladwig beat out a hit to short. A Felsner then drove a hot liner between short and third, scoring Ladwig.

Next week these two teams meet again at Oshkosh. By beating the local Oshkosh still retains its lead in the Lutheran league, having no defeats.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A QUADRUPLE DISASTER

The city of Winnipeg, Manitoba, is a center of bridge and the great Canadian North-West. Team-of-four play there has excited such great interest that a large number of matches between teams have been arranged, and recently, under the auspices of a leading newspaper, a team-of-eight game was played at Duplicate. One team-of-eight, looked upon by their opponents as almost certain winners, lost the championship of the city because, in every instance, the members of this team reached the wrong eventual declaration on the hand shown below:

East and West vulnerable.
East and West vulnerable.

At Table No. 1:
South West North East
1♠ 2♥ Pass Pass
2♠ 3♥ Pass Pass
4♥ Pass Pass

At Table No. 2:
South West North East
1♠ 2♥ Pass Pass
2♠ 3♥ 3NT Pass
Pass Pass

At the two other tables:

1♠ 2♥ Dbl Pass
Pass Pass

When played at two hearts, doubled, at one table East and West were defeated 5 tricks for a penalty of 1500 points, while at the other table, where this contract was reached, the penalty was 1400 points. The North players who failed to double West's defensive Overcall of two hearts thought the result a fortunate one. It is remarkable that West could have averted all his troubles on this hand had he followed the principles of correct bidding. His proper course is not an Overcall, but a Double. If happily he finds his partner with strength in hearts, then possibly a game is in sight. If his partner responds with two diamonds, then he may show his hearts and his partner, assured of honor strength sufficient for a Takeout Double, will then declare his second first-class suit, namely, clubs, and the penalty will be very slight.

Judging the situation from the viewpoint of the North player alone, however, a Double of two hearts is his correct course. If this is the best final declaration, well and good. If South, with the knowledge that North feels strong enough to double a vulnerable opponent's two heart Overcall, decides to continue the bidding, that also would be a satisfactory result. North should bid his hand as he sees it in the light of East's pass, South's Opening bid and West's vulnerable Overcall. Apparently, the North and South hands do not afford anything resembling a perfect fit. How serious this might may be can easily be discovered without danger by the Double. If South's hand suggests that the bidding should proceed further, then North, with potential stoppers in hearts and 2 honor-tricks outside, must bow to his partner's judgment, but his Penalty Double of West's vulnerable Overcall will give to the South player an opportunity to make a safe, sound and correct decision.

It is of course, apparent, when seeing all four hands, that East could find a safe rescue in a bid of three-clubs, but it is extremely doubtful whether many players would choose the club holding for the rescue or would be content to play at three clubs doubled, without attempting to find later whether there was a fit in diamonds.

TODAY'S POINTS
Whenever a hand offers a choice between attempting to make game at your own bid and inflicting a penalty loss on your opponents by going to it, the penalty should be preferred.

TOMORROW'S HAND
The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

Special to Post-Crescent
Black Creek—Funeral services will be held for Mrs. Fred Fuller, 73, of Milwaukee, at 1:30 at the home of a daughter, Mrs. E. S. Maas, and at 2 o'clock from the Methodist church. The Rev. Lorenz Knutzen will conduct the services and burial will be made in the town of Cicero.

Survivors are the widow; four daughters and one son, Mrs. Elmer Olson, Mrs. Ruby Stamm, Frank Fuller, Milwaukee; Mrs. Alice Merceus, State of Maine; Mrs. E. S. Maas, Black Creek.

The family formerly lived here, leaving 13 years ago for Milwaukee. The body arrived Monday morning.

OUTLINE PLANS FOR JULY 4TH PROGRAM

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Local talent and local products will be used entirely in the July Fourth celebration which will be sponsored by the Community hospital auxiliary. A meeting was held Sunday afternoon at which tentative plans were mapped out. Industrial heads and the chamber of commerce will cooperate. A meeting will be held Thursday evening and the regular meeting of the auxiliary will be held Monday evening, July 12. A dinner will be served by the auxiliary in the Pines in connection with the celebration.

PLAN CONSTRUCTION OF FILLING STATION

New London—A combined residence and filling station will be built by C. F. Krueger and Carl Krueger of this city, about a quarter-mile from Butte des Morts at the junction of highways 116 and 110. The proprietor of the station will be F. Wolf, whose family will reside on the second floor of the building. Construction work will begin this week.

CHURCH SERVES DINNER
New London—About three hundred were served at the dinner given at Emanuel Lutheran church Sunday. The affair was the annual school picnic, and both dinner and supper were served by the ladies aid society. A program was given by the school children during the afternoon, and contests were staged. Music was provided by the Nichols band.

TWENTY-SEVEN CHILTON GRADS GET DIPLOMAS

Commencement Exercises Held at Theatre Friday Evening

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Chilton—Public schools closed Friday, 27 students graduating with the class of 1932. On Thursday evening the class play, "Listen to Leon," under the direction of Arthur Immm, was held at the Chilton theatre, the following members of the class being in the cast: Gervase Parker, Zeno Hertel, Mel Bloomer, Ruth Davis, Virginia Orthel, Gregory Buschel, Delphine Loehr and Lucille Freidler. The play was preceded by the class prophecy. Marie Wilberscheid sang a solo.

Friday evening commencement exercises were held at the theatre. The following received diplomas: Robert Bauer, Lester Blomien, Mel Bloomer, Gregory Buschel, Edgar Damm, Ruth Davis, Loreta Diederich, Bertha Eickhorst, Lucille Freidler, Alva Grimm, Olive Grimm, Joseph Harlow, Zeno Hertel, Esther Howarth, Mary Katherine Hugo, Viola Koehler, Delphine Loehr, Angelina Melby, Marie McHugh, Dorothy Meier, Jerome Miller, Mabel Nanning, Virginia Orthel, Gervase Parker, Florence Schmidtkofer, Jerome Short and Marie Wilberscheid.

The following program was given: Music by the brass quartette, commencement address, Carroll G. Pearce, Milwaukee; two songs by the girls trio, presentation of diplomas by principal, G. M. Morrissey, and seniors' farewell by the Girls Glee club. Mr. Pearce, former president of the Milwaukee State Teachers' college, and for a number of years city superintendent of the Milwaukee schools, spoke on "The Times Change, and We are Changed With Them." Mr. Pearce compared the educational standards of the periods of the eighties and nineties with those of the present day.

"Especially have educational requirements advanced since the World War," he said. "Up to that time completion of the elementary school was deemed sufficient preparation for citizenship. Now, the least education deemed sufficient for intelligent citizenship is represented by completion of high school. Successful completion of a high school course should make people more capable of living fuller, better, richer lives. Reductions in support of school systems should be made with great caution because permanent harm may come to young people who through too drastic change in educational opportunities may be handicapped through life," the speaker declared.
